Worms and the Rich Men Much About Wives Two Unusual Items Two Good Decisions

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE eulogizing America's great industries, says "the circle of the reaper, the buzz of the saw, the clang of the anvil, the rush of traffic are all part of a mighty symphony not only of material but of spiritual progress."

There has been improvement since Methuselah built the great pyramid and since Saint James wrote his bitter denunciation "Go to now, ye rich men weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you."

• • •

PAYROLLS are regular and bigger. Scarcity of labor makes employers realize the value of men as well as machines. Public opinion has helped labor. Some employers plan to make workers happy, for the sake of making them happy, not merely because it pays.

• • •

IF the millenium is not here. The average great industrialist thinks as much as he thinks of other matters. He owes that to his stockholders. If a rich man proved that to make 1,000 men independently well off would please him more than making $1,000,000 for himself he would be classed among "cranks," as were those who freed their slaves before Lincoln.

• • •

UNFORTUNATELY civilization is a speedy growth and decency grows with it. A baby's empty mouth grows its set of teeth, no thanks to the baby. And our industrial feudalism, richer, more intelligent than the military feudalism it replaces, grows and produces better conditions, no thanks to individuals.

Ants do their real work they know and care as little as the tiny creatures that build the coral islands, or worms that chewing and wrigging in utter self-interest, produced the fertile soil. But there is no reason for refusing gratitude to those worms.

• • •

VIRTUOUS, mildly rebellious wives of Chicopee, Mass., prepared 10 commandments for husbands and show that they do not understand the problems of husbands or marriage. It is useless to talk about details, including the double standard of morals.

The problem is in two words, SYMPATHY AND JUSTICE.

If a man is sympathetic and just, he will try to do what he ought to do. His success will depend on his age and his degree of semi-civilization.

• • •

MEN, once as imperfect as the higher apes, are slowly improving, and marriage is their training school. Wives teach it and prepare their matrimonial prisoners chiefly for amusement.

It interests them to think that a husband might be, if he were not what he is.

• • •

NEARER reality is the "husband calling contest. At the Suffolk, Va., fair prizes were for wives that could call their husbands with a voice endearing and audible from afar.

The wife, combining endearment with extreme radius, was to be crowned queen of husband callers. Unregenerate husbands will shudder at the thought of that penetrating, endearing call.

• • •

WIVES have been engaged in that husband-calling contest for 500,000 years, first to get him, then to keep him.

Their patience throughout the ages is amazing, the smallness of their reward pathetic.

• • •

TWO unusual news items.

A clergyman kills himself. No need to print his unfortunate name.

A young woman is caught stealing to get money to buy tombstones for her mother and sister.

That clergymen struggle on as they do, many poor and neglected to their size, is a tribute to their courage and a disgrace to men.

That the young woman should steal to buy tombstones is a reflection on her common sense.

• • •

THE Angel Gabriel is amazingly accurate, in memory and memoranda. There is no possibility of his forgetting or mistaking anyone, even though buried in the sea. Besides, science proves that the earth and men on it will last at least one hundred million years longer. No tombstone could outlive that period.

• • •

THOUSANDS of poor widows and daughters, by the way, rob and impoverish themselves to provide tombstones and elaborate funerals for husbands and fathers that never did much for them.

The poorer families suffer most in this way, and clergymen should discourage regardless of sexton's protest.

• • •

TWO local decisions of interest. A Pennsylvania judge decides that husbands can not escape alimony by getting divorces in Nevada or elsewhere, on favorable terms. The home town judge will decide what the lady should have.

A Federal judge says the owner is responsible if his building falls in an earthquake or hurricane and it can be shown that it was not properly built. Hitherto it has been the custom to blame the Almighty and call it "an act of God," as your British steamship ticket tells you the company is "not responsible for the acts of God or King's enemies."

The judge says if you build badly and kill people you and not God will be responsible.

SHOOT OVER WOMAN

Columbus, Oct. 17—George Townsley in St. Francis hospital here today with a bullet wound in his abdomen, while police are holding James Stratton, who police say, purchased the gun from Townsley, 10 minutes before the shooting Sunday morning. Police are holding Lora Trego, Circleville as a material witness. The men are said to have quarreled over the woman.

GIRLS SLAIN, DRIVER TAKES LIFE ON RIDE

Joyous Chicago Auto Party Is Turned into Mysterious Tragedy

BODIES HURLED FROM CAR

Machine Finally Crashes into Telegraph Pole and Is Demolished

Chicago, Oct. 17—A laughing joyous automobile ride turned into mysterious tragedy here today when the driver of the machine shot and killed his two pretty girl companions, until recently high school students, hurling their bodies from the car, and then killed himself.

The victims were: Miss Margaret Martin, 19; Miss Catherine Stadler, 19, and Wilfred J. Winters, 21, of Brooks, Ind.

At 12:25 a. m. the trio were seen laughing and joking with Winters at the wheel. Fifteen minutes later the body of Miss Stadler, shot through the heart, was thrown from the speeding machine. Fifty feet further the body of Miss Martin, fatally wounded with two bullet wounds, fell from the running board. A few feet further the automobile crashed into a telegraph pole and was demolished. In the debris was found the body of Winters, one bullet wound through the head, a revolver by his side.

What Happened Is Mystery

What happened in that short interval of 15 minutes to change gaiety into tragedy officials do not know. That a lover's quarrel was involved was denied strenuously by parents of the three who stated to police they had been "only good friends."

Miss Stadler had been introduced to Winters within the last few weeks. Winters recently returned from Los Angeles and was suffering from tuberculosis, police learned. He expected to start work today as a taxicab driver as physicians advised him to seek outdoor work.

Girls Stenographers

"Catherine left early last night," her father told detectives. "She said she was going to call upon Margaret and later go to a dance hall."

Miss Stadler and Miss Martin had been employed since their graduation last June as stenographers. Winters, who had been living in Chicago with his grandparents, formerly resided at Brooks, Ind., with his mother.

HUBER PLANT OPENS AS INVENTORY ENDS

300 Men Return to Work After Two-Week Layoff; Business Brisk

After being closed two weeks for annual inventory and to make changes and repairs in the power equipment, the Huber Manufacturing Co. plant resumed operations today with a force of approximately 300 men employed. This is practically the plant's full working corps and it will be maintained on the present scale throughout the remainder of the year, according to the schedule now planned.

The company's business during the last year has been exceptionally good and prospects for 1928 indicate a continuance of this favorable condition, A. W. Newby, vice president of the company, stated today.

Sales during 1927 have virtually emptied the company's various warehouses throughout the country of surplus stock and steady factory operations will be necessary to replenish this supply and also to fill orders for immediate delivery, Mr. Newby said.

Big Demand For Rollers

Production during the next few months will include tractors and road rollers, which are in especial demand at this time. An extensive market has been developed for the Huber road rollers, which consist of models ranging from five-ton to 12-ton types.

The Huber plant ordinarily suspends operations only one week for the annual inventory but an additional week was required this year to complete improvements and alterations in the power equipment. The power plant was thoroughly overhauled and repaired to assure the most efficient service possible in the future.

FARMER KILLED

Akron, Oct. 17—D. M. Long, 84, retired farmer, is dead today after being struck by an automobile last night, at Copley, where he resided. Deputy sheriffs are questioning the driver of the machine.

Hint Royal Divorce

KING AND QUEEN OF SPAIN PLAN SEPARATION, IS RUMOR

Royal couples of England and Spain, and the sons of the Spanish rulers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 — Dispatches from Madrid report that all of Spain is buzzing with rumors of a possible separation of the Spanish rulers, King Alfonso and Queen Victoria.

It is hinted the reported separation plans were discussed recently when Sir Austen Chamberlain, England's foreign secretary, conferred with Dictator Primo De Rivera of Spain.

It is rumored further that divorce proceedings already would have been instituted had it not been for fears of King Alfonso that the displeasure of King George and Queen Mary of England might be incurred.

Queen Victoria is a descendant of the Saxe-Coburg royal family of England, being a granddaughter of Queen Victoria of England.

She is held in great affection by her subjects, who have been won by her efforts to become one of them.

An interesting story current in Spain, relates that the queen has the lens of her opera glasses painted black. When she attends a bull fight and the scene becomes distasteful, the queen raises the glasses to her eyes, ostensibly to get a better view, but in reality, to shut out the sight.

Levine Given Enthusiastic Reception by New Yorkers On His Arrival Back Home

Declares He Intends To Go into Transatlantic Air Mail Business Within Next Few Years; Wife Happy Over Eccentric Husband's Return from Flight Adventures

New York, Oct. 17—Charles A. Levine, the first transatlantic airplane passenger, who made the flight to Germany with Clarence Chamberlin, returned home today on the liner Leviathan and was given a cordial, yet dignified, reception by the city of New York and an enthusiastic welcome by his friends and admirers.

The band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and Levine was warmly applauded as he was transferred from the liner to the city's reception boat, The Macom, which steamed up the harbor to welcome officially the Don Quixote of aviation.

Levine was extremely modest in talking to newspaper reporters who questioned him concerning his adventures. He minimized his part in the achievement.

"I intend to go into the transatlantic air mail business within the next few years," Levine said. "I think a daily mail service to Europe is feasible."

He said it would be some years before passenger service across the Atlantic is established. For one thing, he said, the rates would be prohibitive, for it would cost passengers from $2,500 to $3,000 each to make the trip.

He was enthusiastic, however, about the mail service, asserting that a 40-hour service between this country and Europe could be established at a cost of about 50 cents a letter.

Mrs. Grace Levine, his wife, and his nine-year-old daughter, Aloyce, were aboard the Macom when it met the Leviathan. They went aboard the liner and rushed up to the aviator and kissed him repeatedly.

Mrs. Levine Happy

"I'm so happy," exclaimed Mrs. Levine.

Levine, who surprised her by jumping into the plane with Chamberlin at the last moment and flying to Europe, told her he was glad to get back home. Levine brought back with him a wire hair terrier, "Paddy," which he presented to Aloyce. She and the dog immediately became friends.

The Macom brought Levine, his wife and daughter, and other relatives to the Battery, where a crowd had gathered to cheer the returning aviator. Under motorcycle police guard, Levine was taken by automobile to the Biltmore Hotel, where he was greeted by personal friends and neighbors from his home in Belle Harbor the Rockaways. From the Battery to the hotel, a string of automobiles followed the car in which Levine and Grover Whalen, chairman of the mayor's reception committee were riding. From the hotel, Levine was to go to City Hall, where he was to be tendered an official reception by Mayor James J. Walker.

FORMER PRISON INMATE TRIES TO ENTER HOME

Chicago, Oct. 17—Michael Halalack, 30, a former inmate of the Iowa State Prison at Fort Madison, was being held today following his arrest for trying to gain admittance to the home of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick on Lake Shore dr.

In seeking to persuade servants to admit him, Halalack told them Mrs. McCormick had visited him in prison and had invited him to call on her when he was liberated.

Hallack will be sent to the psychopathic hospital for examination, police announced.

BAN JOHNSON ENDS CAREER WITH LEAGUE

"Not Interested in Successor, Wants Rest," Retiring Executive Declares

Chicago, Oct. 17—Ban Johnson president of the American League of Professional baseball, was scheduled to hand over the reins of management which he has held for years, to the board of directors here today.

Johnson, whose impaired health led to his decision to step from office today, is expected to tender his official resignation to Directors Phil De C. Ball of St. Louis, Clark Griffith of Washington, Frank Navin of Detroit and Thomas Shibe of Philadelphia.

"There is nothing for which to wait," Johnson said. "We will go through with the directors' meeting as planned. I want to get away from Chicago and all things pertaining to baseball and take a long rest in California. I am not interested in my successor. All I hope is that the man selected will carry on the ideals of the American League which I have tried to build up."

ENDURANCE FLIER IS FORCED DOWN BY RAIN

Storm Causes Test To End After 17 Hours in Air

Curtiss Field, N. Y., Oct. 17—Wind-driven rain compelled George Meissner to end his endurance flight with the Fairchild-Caminez engine at 10:50 this morning after he had spent 17 hours, 20 minutes and 11 seconds in the air.

Meissner started at 5:31 p. m. yesterday. The machine carried 107 gallons of gasoline and seven gallons of oil.

All through the night, Meissner flew over the field in the glare of searchlights.

The makers of the engine stated that its gasoline consumption was a trifle more than five gallons an hour.

8,000 GERMAN MINERS DEMAND BETTER WAGES

Berlin, Oct. 17—Eight thousand coal miners in central Germany went on strike today for increased wages.

The mine owners refused to grant the increase on the ground that it would have to be authorized by the government first.

Maintenance work is being continued at the mines.

TRIES DEATH LEAP

Motion Picture Actress Puts on Wedding Veil and Jumps

New York, Oct. 27—After several days of brooding, Mrs. Helen McCloskey, 26, motion picture actress, put on her wedding veil, prayed before the statue of a saint in her room and flung herself out of a window into a courtyard two floors below. She was in a serious condition at a hospital today, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull.

A year ago Mrs. McCloskey returned from Hollywood, where she had been playing minor roles in films. Her friends said she became depressed recently when she learned that her former husband, Joseph McCloskey of Hollywood, had married again.

MRS. GRAYSON BEGINS FLIGHT, FORCED DOWN

Woman Flier Decides To Wait Until Tuesday Before Next Attempt

GAS SUPPLY UNEQUALIZED

Weather Conditions Over Atlantic Said To Be Excellent

Old Orchard Beach, Me., Oct. 17—Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson, forced to turn back on her proposed non-stop flight to Copenhagen, Denmark, within 10 minutes after the hop-off here today, has abandoned the idea of another take-off until low tide at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The transatlantic airplane "The Dawn" was down by the nose because of an unequalized gasoline supply, and Pilot Wilmer Stultz was forced to discharge 265 gallons of the 850 gallons supply when the plane, flying low to the water, failed to rise and was dropping down in speed.

Weather Is Good

Gasoline tanks were being refueled for another take-off within an hour when Stultz announced that it was impossible to get away in the present northeast wind, and Mrs. Grayson stated that if the wind was from the south or southeast she would hop tomorrow as weather conditions over the Atlantic were excellent.

The perfect landing of the Dawn with a load of 5,500 pounds on the beach here was regarded as a remarkable demonstration of aviation skill on the part of Stultz, who was at the controls.

The protecting arm of Prout's Neck at the further end of the beach here probably saved "The Dawn" from a forced landing on the water, sheltering the airship from the wind. When "The Dawn" was three miles out, Pilot

MAN CRITICAL AFTER SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Louis Gleason, 65, Marion County Home Fireman, In City Hospital

Louis Gleason, 65, of Fountain-st, fireman at the Marion County Home, Claridon-pk, is in critical condition at City Hospital as a result of an unsuccessful attempt to end his life with a 32-caliber rifle at 6 o'clock this morning in the orchard at the rear of the Home. Despondency over ill health was believed by Home authorities to have caused the act.

The bullet was said by medical attendants to have penetrated the man's body an inch below the heart. He was found in the orchard by Matthew D. Porter, superintendent of the home, shortly after the shooting. Mr. Porter, knowing the man had gone into the orchard and that he would have little motive in so doing at that hour of the morning followed as quickly as possible. He was taken to City Hospital in the W. C. Boyd ambulance.

Mr. Gleason had been employed as fireman at the home for 15 years. He has a wife and child living on Fountain-st.

LINDY SLIPS IN ON WASHINGTON

Washington, Oct. 17—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, over whom Washington went wild when he arrived from France in June, slipped into the city today almost unnoticed.

He flew from Richmond in the Spirit of St. Louis and landed at Bolling Field at 11:12. Only a small crowd was on hand to greet him. No elaborate entertainment is planned for him.

He will go to Baltimore tomorrow.

Colonel Lindbergh and Harry F. Guggenheim, who is accompanying him in another plane, had luncheon with President and Mrs. Coolidge.

Hails Public Opinion As U. S. Defense

Patrick Cardinal Hayes Sees Moral Laxity Spreading in Present Age

DETROIT, Oct. 17—Moral laxity is spreading in the present age but public opinion remains sound and healthy and still constitutes the staunchest defense of American traditions and institutions, declared his eminence, Patrick Cardinal Hayes of New York in an interview today.

The cardinal is here to attend the two-day session of the seventh annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Men. He will address the first public gathering of the organization tonight.

HOLD UP ROADHOUSE, EIGHT TAKE $10,000

Eighty Men and Women in Chicago Resort Held at Bay

Chicago, Oct. 17—Authorities were searching today for eight men who held up "The Barn," a roadhouse northwest of here, killed one man and escaped with $10,000 in money and jewelry.

Joseph "Red" Goodman, noted professional football player, was the man killed. Goodman surprised the bandits as they were surrounding the roadhouse. He was shot down without warning.

Eighty men and women patrons were held at bay under threat of two machine guns. Nothing was overlooked by the bandits. Each guest was robbed and $900 was taken from the till. Even Goodman's pockets were turned inside out when his body was found.

MEAT CUTTER ADMITS CHOKING SWEETHEART

Declares Woman "Lorded It Over Him;" Brooding Leads to Murder

New York, Oct. 17—The machinery of the law today moved swiftly to indict Harry Gilmore, 27, a meat cutter, who admitted to police he choked to death the woman he loved, the woman who left her husband for him.

Gilmore declared his sweetheart, Mrs. Helen Brandon, 29, mother of an eight-year-old boy, had made him her "love slave." She "lorded it over him," he brooded over the small "wrongs" she did him. Then came the tragic climax—death to the woman "I still love."

For years the nightmare of Gilmore's life had been the gleaming blade of a knife. A brawny figure, six feet tall, who handled knives every workingday of his life—he shrank in horror from the implements of his trade and grew faint when a fellow worker cut his finger. His fear amounted to an obsession.

On Saturday the gleam of a knife flitted briefly before his enraged eyes. It was held by the woman he loved. Today he is in jail charged with murder. He confessed that he had strangled Mrs. Brandon when she flourished the dreaded weapon in his face. Gilmore also told police he was irritated by her laziness, her failure to waken him in time for his work, her demand for breakfast in bed, her refusal to iron and mend his clothes.

Gilmore said he met Mrs. Brandon at the world series at Pittsburgh in 1925.

PAROLE FOR MEANS

Former Federal Investigator May Be Released From Atlanta

Washington, Oct. 17—Gaston B. Means, former federal investigator, has been recommended for parole by the federal parole board which met in Atlanta last week, it was announced at the justice department today. His sentence, a total of four years for dry law violations, would have expired next June.

It was understood that the board has also recommended a parole for Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, but no report on Carroll has thus far been received by the department.

CROWDS CRUSH COURTROOM AS TRIAL BEGINS

Sensational Fall and Sinclair Conspiracy Hearing Gets Under Way

JURORS BEING SELECTED

Oil Magnate Quite Possessed, but Ex-Secretary Looks Bad

Washington, Oct. 17—Ninety-six persons were assembled in the tiny court room of Justice Frederick L. Siddons today as the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial got under way. Outside, deputy marshals kept a long line of hopeful spectators quiet and orderly.

The lucky ones included 40 newspapermen, 30 spectators, including the families of the two defendants, and the first panel of 20 prospective jurors.

After a few routine preliminaries for the sake of the record, the first 12 veniremen were placed in the jury box and examination of their fitness to serve began.

At lunch time, 15 veniremen had passed through the jury box and nine tentatively retained their seats. Neither side had thus far used a peremptory challenge.

Two attractive young women occupied seats 1 and 2. They were Mrs. Annelle Bailey, a piano store employe, and Miss Bernice Heaton, a long distance operator.

Fail To Make Motion

The defense did not make an expected motion for postponement on the ground that the supreme court's annulment of the Teapot Dome oil leases was so recent that it would prejudice the case.

While the veniremen were being examined, an attendant was sent after Fall's overcoat, although the room did not seem cold.

Fall and Sinclair have the best legal talent that money can hire. Opposing counsel prepared for a long, drawn-out battle to select a jury. Available were 104 veniremen, comprising four panels, but as these are panels who have been assimilating court gossip for the past 15 days it was quite likely that a special venire would have to be called before 12 men and women could be agreed upon.

Seats at Premium

As the courtroom was comparatively small, seats were at a premium. The corridors were cluttered with "trial fans" and prospective jurymen long before time for court to convene. Deputy marshals manned the courtroom door and scanned carefully the credentials of newspapermen and others entitled to admission. At the far side of the building, a crew of telegraphers were busy at their wires, over which will go out to the world a complete story of the sensational trial.

Fall was showing his 66 years, and the strain of a four-year battle for his freedom quite plainly. He looked far from well. Sinclair, on the other hand, was quite self-possessed, despite the three-month's jail sentence hanging over him for contempt of the senate.

Lease Recently Cancelled

Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, special federal oil counsel are charging that Sinclair delivered to Fall some $230,500 of the profits of the defunct Continental Trading Co. of Canada, in exchange for which Fall turned over to Sinclair the lease on Teapot Dome in the naval oil reserve. A week ago today, the Supreme Court of the United States confirmed a lower court decision voiding this lease on the ground that it was "shot with fraud."

Martin W. Littleton of New York, William E. Leahy and George Hoover of Washington, and Mark Thompson of New Mexico, are the lawyers who will defy the government to substantiate its case.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE FILED AFTER ACCIDENT

Akron, Oct. 17—H. A. Wagner, 30, of Akron, was under $2,000 bond today on a charge of manslaughter, following an automobile accident near here Saturday night, which resulted in two deaths.

GEORGE LOWER NEW HEAD OF RED MEN

Named District Chief; Next Meeting To Be Held at Upper Sandusky

George Lower, member of Sandusky Tribe, No 99, Improved Order of Red Men, of Marion, was elected district chief of the organization at its annual district meeting held here Saturday and arrangements were made for holding next year's session in Upper Sandusky.

Other officers elected at the meeting which opened Saturday afternoon with a business session and school of instruction and closed at night with initiatory ceremonies, are Carl Koenig, Marion, senior sagamor; Gottlieb Seiler, Upper Sandusky, junior sagamor; Avery Snyder, Upper Sandusky, chief of records and T. C. Clay, Marion, district prophet.

The two Upper Sandusky officers represent Tarat Tribe, No. 145 of that city.

The annual meeting, held at the Red Men's hall at the corner of S. Main and Church-sts, was attended by approximately 200 members of tribes in Marion, Toledo, Upper Sandusky, Mansfield, Peoria, Tiffin and Delaware. Included among several prominent visitors was L. J. Schubert of Mansfield, who holds the office of grand sachem, the highest post in the state organization.

Following the afternoon session, the Red Men staged a street parade, marching to the Community House on High-st, where dinner was served by the Nika Bible Class of Salem Evangelical Church.

At the night session degrees were conferred on a class of seven candidates by Tarat Tribe of Upper Sandusky and Deerfoot Tribe of Columbus.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.—Adv.

CARL F. DIGEL RESIGNS POST

Will End Service with Franklin County Children's Home on Oct. 25

Carl F. Digel, former superintendent of the Marion County Children's Home who has held a similar position in Franklin county since Feb. 1, will resign from service there on Oct. 25 to take another branch of public welfare work, according to announcement made by trustees of the Franklin County institution, yesterday.

Digel refused to make any definite statement regarding the nature of his future employment but it was indicated that it will take him into a wider and more important field of activity. His wife, who has been associated with him as matron of the Franklin County home, will retire from public service, it was stated.

Trustees of the Franklin County home said that Digel's resignation was not a result of any differences over methods of management at the home. Several months ago a controversy developed as the result of complaints filed with the board but after a hearing, Digel's work at the home was officially indorsed and approved. Recently when he tendered his resignation he agreed to remain temporarily until plans for a few changes in conduct of the institution could be worked out satisfactory.

Digel stated that he will take a vacation in the East before entering upon his new duties.

Appointment of his successor at Columbus is scheduled for this week.

Drug Addiction Really Quite Rare, Says Narcotics Board Secretary

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press-Star Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—If dope fiendishness is increasing in this country as Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, Merrimac hero, and a few others say it is, why is it we so seldom see an obvious dope fiend?

COL. L.G. NUTT

No doubt they try to keep it dark, but as long ago as 1924 Hobson told a senate committee there were 1,750,000 drug addicts in our midst then, not counting a lot who couldn't be identified for sure, with recruits, from eight years old up, joining the ranks all the time. Congress didn't do anything about it and alarmists, of whom Hobson's spokesman-in-chief, assure us the situation's been getting worse ever since.

For all their secretiveness, if they're so plenty, it's funny we don't catch an occasional hophead taking a shot or a sniff on the sly.

Personally I never spotted more than two or three suspects, even, in my life. I think it's the same with most folks. We hear all kinds of stories—but that's all.

• • •

TAKING this problem to Col. L. G. Nutt's office—Secretary Nutt of the Federal Narcotics Control Board—here's the answer I got:

"Drug addiction is quite rare in the United States."

Such fancy figures as Capt Hobson et al give are all bosh, according to the Federal Narcotics Control Board.

• • •

RECORDS of dope importations into the United States, under the Harrison Law, may not amount to much, because they can't possibly include what's smuggled.

According the Narcotics Board goes back to the period before 1915.

Earlier than that, it's assumed there was little or no smuggling. There was no reason for it. The Harrison Law wasn't in force. Drugs were admitted unrestrictedly and could be bought as freely as candy.

The importation peak was the $90-00 decade, with 605,000 pounds of opium and 20,000 ounces of alkaloidal preparations.

• • •

ON a basis of six grains of morphine sulphate apiece daily—and Capt. Hobson says 10 grains is the average addict's daily dose—this quantity would have supplied a maximum of 246,000 addicts, as calculated by Dr. Lawrence Kolb, Government Public Health Service narcotics expert.

That's supposing all had been consumed here, which it wasn't. Much was re-exported.

To supply Capt. Hobson's 1,750,000 addicts, today's volume of smuggled drugs must exceed maximum prerestriction importations by more than seven times. Incidentally, it would be nearly three times the medicinal opium product for the whole world, outside the Oriental countries—League of Nations statistics.

• • •

THE Narcotics Board recalls that army medical examiners found less than one drug addict to 1,000 among candidates for military service during the war.

The Board puts the number of the country's addicts at "less than 100,000" now.

But children are getting the habit—we're warned.

Dr. Kolb: "I personally do not think there are in the United States more than 25 normal people under the age of 14 who are addicts."

• • •

"WHEN a man does get the drug habit—heaven help him," agrees Col. Nutt.

The colonel does minimize the vice's disastrous effects.

But as for its spread?—the reason we don't see it is that it's steadily on the decline, if you take the word of the Federal Narcotics Control Board.

Now Read What 11,105* Doctors say About Lucky Strike Cigarettes Because

"It's toasted"

WHAT is the quality that Giacomo Rimini, Margaret D'Alvarez, Cesare Formichi, Armand Tokatyan, Emma Trentini, William Faversham, Florence Reed, Paul Whiteman, and other famous singers, actors, broadcasters and public speakers have found that makes LUCKY STRIKES delightful and of no possible injury to their voices?

For the answer we turned to medical men and asked them this question:

Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105* doctors answered this question "YES."

Consider what these figures mean; consider that they represent the opinion and experience of doctors, those whose business it is to know.

Paul Whiteman, Noted Orchestra Leader, writes:

"It was but recently, when I started to act as master of ceremonies with my band at the Paramount Theatre, that I realized how vital perfect voice condition was to a performer. I have always been a consistent smoker and, fortunately, Lucky Strikes were my favorite brand. I like their toasted flavor and, best of all, I can smoke as often as I like, without fear of irritating my voice, which is becoming a great asset in my work."

MARION MAN GIVEN CREDIT FOR ROADWAY

Section of Kenton-Marysville-rd Considered Exceptionally High Grade

A section of the Kenton-Marysville-rd, extending a distance of 12½ miles south of the village of Ephalia, is described as being an exceptionally high stand type of modern road construction and a Marion man under whose supervision the section was improved is given credit for accomplishing a notable piece of work in an article appearing in the last issue of Better Highways.

The supervisor was Grover C. Snyder, division engineer of the state highway department, who has his home and offices in the Barnhart Building. The Contract

The road was built ... of loose stone by Union County and was maintained for a few years as a ... bound type. Since 1924, however, it has been under state maintenance with some county cooperation.

Recently it was widened and surface treated by the state under ... section.

Four Miles Widened

The north four miles were widened from 10 to 18 feet with macadam and in June this section was opened to traffic after being surface-treated. The widening and surfacing with ... was done at an approximate cost of only $1500 a mile. This ... regarded as a demonstration of the great saving that can be effected for taxpayers by salvaging old macadam roads, using them as a base and building them up with crushed stone. In this way, it is stated, any stone road can be reshaped, widened and re-treated to meet the demands of increased travel. Although this particular section of the Marysville-Kenton road is traveled by about 2,500 vehicles daily, it is in excellent condition, the article in Better Highways states.

WELDING

"You break it—we fix it." Marion Welding Co., 132 Oak-st.—Adv.

Dividing the "sheep" from the "goats"—the good from the bad—it has to be done sooner or later, even with furniture. So we do it. We don't have any "goats" in our store. When you come in, and we hope you will, you will find only furniture in good taste from which to choose. And that, after all, is pleasanter than wasting a lot of time on furniture you'd never want to buy. At least we feel that way at Schaffner's.

RUTH, PAL ON WAY TO PARIS

Leave Horta on Portuguese Mail Ship Bound for Lisbon

(Copyright, 1927, by I. N. S.)

Horta, The Azores, Oct. 17—After being warmly welcomed and entertained by the inhabitants of this port, Miss Ruth Elder and George Haldeman, famed American transatlantic fliers tonight bid farewell to Horta and start for Paris by way of Lisbon.

They are expected to board the Portuguese mail ship Lima, which will take them to Lisbon. According to Miss Elder, she may fly from Lisbon to Paris, where her trunks await her, but she added this depended upon circumstances when she reached the Portuguese capital.

The girl flier will first land at Ponta Da Gada in order to replace her lost passports at the American Consulate there as there is no American consul here.

Before leaving, Miss Elder declared that she was most enthusiastic about making another attempt to span the Atlantic by airplane. She said the flight will be held next year and that she will immediately start preparations when she gets back to the United States. Her next flight, Miss Elder said, will be financed by a wealthy American.

Speaking of her flight, Miss Elder said that the weather was clear at first but later became very boisterous. Once she took the controls while Haldeman poured gas into the tanks from the cans, which were too heavy for her to lift. But steadying the ship against the wind was difficult for her to do for any length of time.

Actress in Party

While here, Miss Elder and Haldeman were the guests of G. F. Mackey, traffic director for the Western Union Telegraph Co., entertained with the Americans were the crew of the Junkers plane D-1230 who have been held here due to bad weather since they arrived from Lisbon. The Germans plan a hop to New York.

Lilli Dillenz, Viennese actress who is a passenger aboard the Junker plane, will be among those bidding Miss Elder farewell today. Miss Elder and Fraulein Dillenz became very friendly and spent several hours together exchanging accounts of their air experiences.

Miss Elder spent Sunday writing letters and an account of her flight. Late in the day a thunderstorm blew up and prevented her from leaving the hotel to fulfill private engagements. Of her adventure she said:

Nothing Mysterious

"There was nothing mysterious about the flight. It was simply this: we left America, we flew 2,000 miles, and we encountered circumstances that compelled us to come down. We were rescued by the Dutch ship Barendrecht, and we were landed at Fayal. You know the rest. That is all there is to it."

The steamship Lima, upon which Miss Elder will travel to the continent, is due to leave tonight. Miss Elder is anxious to get to Paris as quickly as possible.

"It Will Satisfy the Most Critical!"

Beauty hints from one who specializes in beauty are well worth heeding; and pretty Miss Betty Winkler, beauty specialist of New York City, is glad to tell other girls and women what she thinks of Black and White Face Powder.

If weather conditions are satisfactory they announced they will continue on across the Atlantic to New York on a non-stop flight.

Pilot Horst Merz told the International News Service that he came down at Vigo when, flying off the Bay of Biscay, he noticed that his plane was losing altitude.

"I had decided to go on and try to reach The Azores," he said, "but learned by radio that weather conditions there were bad. We will make a few repairs and then set out again. I hope we will be able to go right on to New York."

HIGHWAY EQUIPMENT TO GET YELLOW COAT

Grover C. Snyder Receives Instructions To Paint All State Apparatus

Instructions to have all highway equipment in this district painted light yellow in accordance with a plan adopted for the entire state, have been received by Grover C. Snyder, division engineer of the state highway department, he stated at his office here today. The order came from George F. Schlesinger, state highway director.

By adopting this painting program, the state director expects to facilitate identification of the highway equipment and also to lessen danger of traffic accidents. Promotion of traffic safety, he says, is the chief object. The equipment is now painted battleship grey.

There are more than 3,000 separate pieces of equipment in use and several hundred are in the district over which Snyder has supervision.

The equipment includes motor trucks, tractors, power shovels, compressors, concrete mixers, snow plows and other machines. Schlesinger points out that these machines must travel or be stationed on highways during working hours and that every possible safeguard is needed to prevent accidents.

Meditations of a Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

Getting Out of a Love-Affair

MAKING an effective exit, whether from the last scene of a play or from the last scene of a love-affair, is one of the Fine Arts of Life.

• • •

The beginning and the end of a story or a romance are SO important to a woman. They are the hors d'oeuvres and the dessert, without which the whole love-feast lacks charm and flavor.

• • •

A woman always wants to end a love-affair with a flourish and a grande finale—to ring down the curtain on a last beautiful scene, with tears and kisses in the foreground and a lovely sunset in the background.

• • •

She wants something tender and thrilling to REMEMBER—a reassurance, or a caress to put away like a forget-me-not in the book of her memory.

• • •

But, once love has begun to pall, a man's only thought is to rush out of it and slam the door behind him! And, if the door is locked, he'll climb down the fire-escape or crawl out through the chimney.

• • •

All he wants is to FORGET!

• • •

A woman likes to give her dead love a beautiful funeral service with wreaths and cut flowers and tender tributes and soft music. Nothing consoles her for love's death like laying it away in a lovely casket.

• • •

But a man doesn't care whether his dead loves are buried in Potter's Field or thrown on the ash heap with last week's flowers—so long as they STAY dead, and do not rise to haunt him.

• • •

The average woman nearly drives a man insane, with her persistent attempts to perform an autopsy over a defunct romance.

• • •

"WHY did you? Why DON'T you? How COULD you? Tell me, tell me, TELL me!"

• • •

Her passion for "talking it over," "trying to revive it," "bringing him back," making him sorry, explaining, scrapping, "making up," and putting on all the finishing touches affects him like the offer to champagne on "the morning after."

• • •

All that a man wants is free air! To "go away from there!"

• • •

A woman likes to look backward—and dream!

• • •

A man always looks forward—to the NEXT dream!

• • •

All of which is very sad for both of them. It would be SO easy for a man to stage an effective exit, a beautiful ending to even the lightest of his loves; and to leave a woman with her vanity intact, her heart appeased and the comforting thought that she had had at least ONE Prince Charming in her life!

GOODYEAR LIKELY TO GET DIRIGIBLE CONTRACT

Akron, Oct. 17—A contract for building a 6,500,000 cubic foot dirigible for the government probably will be awarded the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation of Akron, according to a statement today from W. O. Young, head of the Goodyear aeronautical department.

Young returned last night from Washington where he conferred with government officials and a contract will be awarded within three weeks, he believes. The design for the new ship submitted by the Goodyear company last June won first prize of $50,000.

WOULD CALL OCEAN FLIERS FOR PARLEY

Meteorologist Believes Material of Vast Value Could Be Assembled

New York, Oct. 17—Material of vast value to future transatlantic fliers could be assembled, in the opinion of Dr. James H. Kimball of the local weather bureau, if those who have already had experience of conditions could be got together.

Dr. Kimball, who acted as unofficial starter for all the expeditions that have started from New York, therefore proposes a round-table discussion by Lindbergh, Chamberlin, Byrd, Balchen, Maitland and Hegenberger, Brock and Schlee, and perhaps George W. Haldeman.

The proposal has been placed before C. G. Rossby, chairman of the meteorological committee of the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, and a movement is under way to have the discussion the latter part of this month.

Lindbergh will have finished his tour by that time, Chamberlin is in New York. It is felt the army air corps would release Maitland and Hegenberger any time for this purpose, and the other fliers are near enough to this city to make them available on short notice.

Dr. Kimball feels that he and the other weather experts, who will be asked to sit in at the meeting, may be able to give an interpretation to the combined experience of the various fliers that any of them, working alone, could not possibly make.

12 FIREMEN INJURED IN PITTSBURGH FIRE

$250,000 Blaze Sweeps Three Buildings; 13 Concerns Wiped Out

Pittsburgh, Oct. 17—Twelve firemen were seriously injured, one of them critically, and three buildings containing 13 wholesale wearing apparel concerns were damaged to the extent of more than $250,000 when a fire of undetermined origin swept three buildings in the downtown district early today.

All fire apparatus in the city and suburbs were called to fight the blaze, which for a time threatened the whole block.

Capt. W. H. Coslett of an engine company suffered a fractured skull when he and three other firemen were hit by falling brick as part of a wall collapsed. Physicians held out little hope for Coslett's recovery.

The fire started on the fifth floor of a building occupied by William Perriman & Co., wholesale milliners, and soon spread to the upper floors of adjoining structures.

IRON STARTS BLAZE AT M'ELHANEY HOME

Damage Estimated at $50 Result of Fire in Cabinet

An automatic electric iron which failed to function properly was responsible for a $50 fire at the home of Davis McElhaney, 252 Barnhart-st, shortly before 6 o'clock Saturday night.

Mrs. McElhaney had used the iron late in the afternoon and had replaced it, with the ironing board, in the place occupied by the board, without disconnecting the current, thinking that it would shut off automatically.

A short time after members of the family had left the house to go down town, neighbors saw smoke pouring from around the windows and doors of the McElhaney home and called the fire department. The blaze was confined to the small cabinet.

The fire department from the central and No. 2 stations were called to the home of Police Chief Thompson, W. Church-st, shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday morning, where sparks from a chimney had set fire to the roof. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals with a small loss.

LEGISLATOR WANTS 30 MORE CRUISERS

Rep. Fred A. Britten Planning To Submit Proposal to Congress

New York, Oct. 17—A five-year building program designed to bring the American navy up to parity with the British, and involving the construction of 30 new cruisers, will be proposed early in the new congress by Rep. Fred A. Britten, Republican, of Illinois, he announced upon his arrival here today after four months in Europe. Britten is the ruking member of the House Naval Affairs Committee, and led the successful revolt against President Coolidge in the last session, which resulted in the appropriation for three new cruisers. He has spent the summer abroad.

"This five-year program," said Rep. Britten, "is the least we can do, and there is no doubt in my mind but that congress will enact it. I believe the General Board of the Navy will go even further after receiving the confidential reports from our Geneva representatives.

Daily Proverb—"A bold fellow is the jest of wise men and the idol of fools."

A visiting French author told a New York City gathering that the movies are leveling the world. Possibly he referred to its general intelligence.

Some one has said that few really great men work for money alone. Has some hard-working spreader of joy and sunshine in paragraphs been writing his confessions?

It's hard to understand the report from New York City that much excitement was occasioned on Broadway, a few days ago, by a round up of calves. Don't most calves round up?

President Coolidge says the United States hasn't any indispensable citizens, but he probably doesn't know the moron who drives past our house frequently shortly after midnight firing off a revolver.

We do not know who or what Roy L. Smith may be, but we are willing to award the palm for cleverness to his epigram. "I can not be a pacifist; I am too fond of peace."

A highway survey is said to show that of 16,000 pedestrians killed in 1926, more than 10,000 were themselves to blame. We assume that for the slaying of the other 6,000 of the fast-dwindling true aristocrats of the land the motorists ran out of alibis.

Of course, since we have prohibition, the effect of the shortage in the corn crop on "corn likker" is not worth worrying about, but isn't it liable to do things to our supply of pure maple syrup?

Talking about surprises, the mayor of London has received a letter from a resident of Columbus asking him for a recipe for the making of home brew. Why, we heard that art was taught in some of the schools down there!

Following in the footsteps of Marie Doro, Elliott Dexter's second wife has sued him for divorce. Elliott has been pronounced the screen's perfect lover, but then, the screen is the reflection of "The Land of Make Believe."

The story of the elopement of Princess Ileana with a young naval lieutenant who was one of the aides of her father, the late king of Roumania, is officially denied at Bucharest. It is pronounced a pure invention from first to last. It was so full of ambiguities that it is somewhat of a wonder that it gained any credence at all.

New Occupations Are Many.

There is no occasion to offer proof that civilized life has become far more complex than it used to be. The fact is generally recognized and admitted. And its complexities are steadily increasing. Never before in the world's history was there such interdependence as there is today. Not so long ago the average man was self-dependent. He built his own abode, tilled his own soil, raised his own food, spun his own wool and made his own garments. He dug his own well and from some earth-hidden vein his water supply was assured. Fuel was not much of a problem. He used his horse or his own feet for the purpose of traveling. He furnished his own candle or lamp. It was the simple life.

There is no occasion to note the changed conditions of living today. All of us are familiar with them. As a result thereof, the average man is almost wholly dependent on his fellow-man for his existence. And almost every one of the changes which has come has been attended by its string of new occupations—new ways of making a livelihood.

Our attention was brought to this again, a day or two ago, by an item in a New York City paper stating that a former chairman of the water pollution committee of the Merchants' association of that city had made public the text of a letter he had addressed to the commissioner of the department of water supply, gas and electricity in protest against a practice which, he holds, is defaming the good name of New York City's drinking water supply.

The former commissioner—Edward Hatch, by name—sets out that "professional guests" are making a livelihood by mingling with other guests in the city's hotels and incidentally warning them that the city's water is not fit to drink and at the same time recommending this or that brand of bottled table water—the brand recommended depending, of course, upon the source of their incomes—as one which they have used and found to be dependable for purity.

The practice against which this New Yorker protests is not limited to mineral waters. In somewhat different form it is utilized in many lines. As a matter of fact, it has been employed in politics, chiefly in presidential campaigns, not only in hotels, but in any public place where men may gather. Lobbying it may be said, is not confined to the corridors leading to legislative halls. We find it everywhere.

Yes, there are a lot of ways of making a living of which our forefathers never dreamed, and some of them are mighty queer ones.

Life Span Decreasing.

For the last ten or twelve years we have been congratulating ourselves over the marked increase in the average span of human life. For centuries preceding the year, 1911, there had been an unquestionable increase, but with that year the increase began to be a matter for marvel. What the cause, nobody definitely could say. It was attributed to better living conditions, to better diet, to better sanitation, to better methods of combating and overcoming disease, to more skillful surgery, to better care of our bodies, to more knowledge regarding the ways of health and the ways leading away from it. And the improvement went on from year to year. In 1911 the average span of life was 46.62 years. In 1924 it had reached 55.82. In a word, in thirteen years the average span of life had increased nine years. It was almost unbelievable, but we were forced to accept the statistics proving it. And we were elated. We are just learning how to live, we told ourselves. The wisdom of the ages is not equal to ours. We have just started. There were predictions that it would not be long till the average span of live would mount to sixty-five years and that three or four decades hence it would be seventy-five. Some even spoke of life spans of a century and the ultra enthusiastic went as high as 125.

And our contemplation of the future was a rosy one, and we rejoiced in it as well we might.

But a change has come over our dreams. The increase was wonderfully fine so long as it held, but the sad fact is that it hasn't held. Recent figures made public by the actuary of a prominent life insurance company show that for the last two years the average rate of increase for the thirteen years preceding the last two has not been maintained. Worse than that, they show that there has been a recession, not a great one, but a recession nevertheless. Whereas the average span of human life was 55.62 years in 1911, it dropped to 55.06 in 1926, which means a decrease of over six months in the last two years.

Had our life span remained stationary it would have afforded ground for surprise, but to have it recede offers ground for apprehension; especially as there doesn't appear to be any adequate explanation for it. The ardant wets may be inclined to attribute the situation to the bootleg liquor being consumed, but we would far rather believe that it is due to the increased speed and tension at which we are living, to the noise, and bustle, and confusion, and strain of this age of jazz and bright lights, to our lack of rest, and quiet, and sleep. The natures of the diseases which have been making the heaviest inroads into our ranks for the past year or two would go to show it.

A Chicago professor says men will be carrying vanity cases, fifteen years hence, and using rouge and perfumery. Let's hope for the best. It's generally the rule that our forebodings are infinitely worse than the disease.

Last Saturday the Cincinnati Enquirer remarked, manifestly with a chuckle, that Billy Sunday picked both Jack Dempsey and the Pirates to win. Let's be fair to the Rev. Billy. He has long been recognized as an expert on athletics, and they never are expected to hit anything off correctly.

New York City was all set this morning to give Lovine a welcome. It may be remembered that Mr. Levine, in his announcement that he didn't expect a reception, didn't go so far as to say he would dodge one should he see it coming his way.

Siberian radio operators report that they heard "melodious sounds" during the last week's remarkable display of the aurora borealis. If they can get melodious sounds out of static, we're going to do our utmost to avoid what passes in soviet Russia for music.

A Washington story says Senator Borah is likely to displace Senator Norris as leader of the radicals in their planned assault upon the choice seats in the political Promised Land. It was pretty near a cinch that the Hon. William would lead even if his well-known fondness for being at the head of the procession forced him to march by himself.

The Paris police have protested against the wearing of white gloves, holding that it is effeminate and beneath their dignity. Still, white gloves would match up mighty well with the dinky little white lemon squashers they carry for clubs.

Francis M. Collins, a civil war veteran in the Soldiers' home in Milwaukee who celebrated his 101st birthday anniversary Saturday, has announced that he recently married "The Belle of St. Louis," who, he stated, is "thirty-four years old and a peach." What use has a veteran of that age for pension money, anyway, if he can't blow it on the woman of his choice?

A Sheffield woman swam the English channel Friday, the third woman to make the crossing, real or faked, this month. If this thing keeps up, we will just naturally have to blow ourself for a card index to keep track of 'em.

Vagrant Verse.

NEOPHYTE.

Only seagulls know who lies
By the bay when daylight dies—
Golden tress or beard of green
Mirrored in the glassy sheen—
Seagulls, whom the wild winds lend,
Ocean's monarch to attend,
Ocean's princesses to keep
While the earth is locked in sleep.

Question them—weird laughter mocks,
Wheeling, swooping o'er the rocks—
Fitting guards for majesty,
In their stately livery,
Poising, in the depths to spy
Glories banned to mortal eye.
Lo! that shrilling laugh of scorn
Rings the echo of a horn
Such as scaly Triton blows
When his gleaming length he throws
On the seaweed cushions down
'Mid the sleek kelp's banners brown.

Grant me, for the love I bear
Calm and tempest, one small prayer;
May I learn, before I go,
Secrets that the seagulls know.

THERE'S SOMETHING IN THE AIR!

Signs Telling Baby's Condition.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.*

In the case of an infant there are three organs which must be checked up on every day. They are the kidneys, skin and bowels.

As you see, these are the organs of elimination, as they are called. That is, they are the organs which carry away the waste materials.

We take food and drink. They pass into the stomach and, from that organ, into the small intestine. Gradually the intake is prepared for absorption into the blood. In due course of time all that is valuable is used by the system. The useless material goes on into the large intestine and rectum.

If this worthless mass is permitted to remain in the bowel, it is not long before it begins to ferment. Poisons are generated and some of these may be absorbed by the lining membrane of the lower bowel. As you would expect, this results in discomfort or actual illness.

The blood goes through the body, carrying the building and repair materials supplied by the food. On its return journey it brings the poisons and wastes which have developed in the active muscles and all the cells of the system.

The kidneys are given the baby to dispose of these substances. If they do not filter from the blood the products of growth and repair, there will be ill effects at once. There must be cleansing of blood so that it can be free to carry on its other functions, the feeding of the cells.

In a less conspicuous manner, the skin carries away some of the waste materials. It has another function—the regulation of the temperature of the body. But it is the activity of the skin as one of the eliminating organs that we are interested today.

There can not be free elimination of waste without an intake of quantities of fluids. This is true of grown-ups, as it is of babies. In infants, of course, there is a diet made up exclusively of fluids. But the milk contains solids in material quantities and so the baby needs water as well as milk.

By all means, then, give your baby water between feedings. It has thirst and can suffer from it, but whether it seems to suffer or not, the infant should have water.

The water will moisten the waste materials and help to keep the bowels free. The more water there is the more readily will the blood do its part in dissolving the rejected substances. This will aid the kidneys and skin in carrying away this portion of the waste.

The skin should be moist and be free from irritation. The urine should not be too highly colored. The bowels should act freely.

Dryness of the skin, highly colored urine and constipation, are symptoms which should be called to the attention of your doctor. But if you are careful in your feedings and supply abundant water, it is probable all will go well.

Views of Those in Public Eye.

THOMAS S. BUTLER.

Thomas S. Butler was born in Chester county, Pennsylvania, November 4, 1855. He served as judge of the Fifteenth judicial district of Pennsylvania for several years, and in 1897 was elected a member of congress from the Sixth district of Pennsylvania. He has served in the lower house ever since, but from 1903 on his election has been from the Seventh district. Butler lives at West Chester, Pennsylvania.

Congressman Butler wants this country to prepare for defense, believing as he does of the good will of nations, without apology or excuse to any power. He says:

"In the consideration of what armaments the United States government should have, I have not for one minute had in mind the failure of the British and Japanese governments to agree with America on further limitations of naval armament. I do not have in view any prospect whatsoever that would lead or trend toward the application of force among the three nations.

"I believe that the sentiment among all three nations is a feeling of good will that will be lasting. None of us can see any indications of any dispute that might result in the outbreak of any hostilities between any of these powers.

"Men talk about preserving the dignity of America. I do not imagine that the United States government would think it worth while to prepare three ships, for instance, for that purpose.

"Other men talk about the defense of our commerce. Who say that it is necessary that three battleships should be built for that purpose?

"I do not think that any one has ever accurately, and satisfactorily to himself, decided just how much military force the United States government should maintain. All men differ as to the exact extent of any such strength.

"Without attempt at rivalry, it might be well to consider, in the preparation of a defense, what the four other great powers—Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan—consider necessary for their defense. Those are large nations and their councils are composed of intellectual giants.

"Without imitating them, let us look at what they think is wise for their defense. We can always learn by observing what other successful world governments are doing.

"There is only one thing to do—only one real course of action. And that is, to consider this question like men, to determine practically just what we need without apology or excuse to any other world power."

Editorial Comment.

A MINISTER'S RIGHT TO SPEAK.

We agree with the Methodist ministers of the Rock River conference who insist that it is their right to have opinions and express them on economic, military, national and international affairs. They say that ministers are often attacked for expressing opinions on such things, and that is true. But they hold, and we agree, that a clergyman has as good a right as a doctor, a lawyer, a merchant prince or any other citizen to express an opinion.

In the long run the principal job of a minister of the gospel will be, as it always has been, setting forth standards of individual human conduct and applying the principles of religion to life. But public affairs are a part of the individual's duty in life, just as are love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness and the others "against which there is no law."

Our clerical friends, on the other hand, must understand that when they do express opinions they are open to criticism just as any one else is who discusses public questions. To attack their views on things that are of Caesar is not to attack the cloth. They will not expect the exemption from criticism usually accorded when they are explaining the teaching of Paul or applying the principles of Jesus to living. Their fitness to interpret the commandments or the beatitudes will be largely conceded; they must establish their right to discuss national defense and military training, economic happenings, and international affairs.

In this part of their public service we suspect the clergy of the Rock River conference, and some others, may be remiss. Members of this conference condemn militarism, as every one does, but they add specific condemnation of the reserve officers' training corps. Now, they have a right to express that opinion if it is an informed opinion. But it suggests a rather offhand conclusion that anything in the way of defense is militarism. That is not at all the clergy's attitude when war comes, so it can hardly be an intelligent attitude in peace. They can not expect that it will be accepted on their say so as the teaching of the church or of Christianity.

Clergymen must expect that their information and their reasoning on public affairs will be questioned by laymen, as they would not be questioned, for example, upon a declaration that a man ought not to provoke conflict with his neighbor.—Milwaukee Journal.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Somebody in Manchester, England, has vision. That great industrial city maintains a juvenile center. If a boy has left school and applies for work and finds there is no work, he is turned over to the juvenile center. He is put to school and his education is continued until he finds work. If he is kept occupied in various ways to improve himself until something definite and permanent is found for him to do.

Children today are constantly being compared with their grandfathers and grandmothers. As far as brains go they needn't fear the comparison. A group of Chicago pupils passed an arithmetic test that was given fifty years ago. And the marks of today's youngsters were twenty per cent. higher than grandpa and grandma got. When the test was given in 1875 only three per cent. got perfect results. Today fifteen per cent. were perfect.

Some time ago an eastern man went to Reno and sought a divorce on the ground that his wife cared too much for politics. She told him a political career meant more to her than her husband. Can't blame the wife for that. A husband who isn't more interesting to his wife than politics has only himself to blame. In this day of economic independence for women—when women don't need men—they have a right to expect their husbands to be entertaining. A dull husband ought to be fired.

The Pennsylvania judge who sentenced a woman to silence had a big idea. After listening to her uninterrupted barrage in court for five minutes, he told her to go home and sit in silence for an hour each evening. That would be a helpful practice for all of us. For at least one hour we should be certain of not saying anything foolish—and we might manage to think a little.

"Insist on yourself," said Emerson. "Never imitate. Your own gift you can present every moment with the cumulative force of a whole life's cultivation; but of the adopted talent of another you have only an extemporaneous, half possession.

If you are a public speaker remember that an audience is vastly more impressed to hear you giving something you have thought out for yourself than it is to hear you repeating the words of another, no matter how beautifully you do it. It is true in a wider field than the field of public speaking. When you feel that you are prepared for a certain kind of work, do it your way, and make a mental bet on your own ability.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 17—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up betimes and to a travel agency where I articled to visit Egypt this winter and then to breakfast on a turkey hash. Afterward to walk among the bazaars and saw a tiny vial of perfume priced at $100.

Home and cast my accounts and noble resolves for thrift sadly awry. So to call on Watterson Rothacker, the young film magnate, but he had entrained for the coast. A thin fog billowed up from the harbor made the city as beautiful as I ever saw what with myriad office building lights.

In the evening came boysterers to make jinks with a silly game called "black jack," and so much hilarity a neighbor on the right asked if he might join us and did and he was an ex-husband of a lady in the party, albeit good friends. So to bed late.

Cafes and cabarets seek to perk up sagging receipts with what they call "name" attractions. It is a specious theory famous names will attract customers and such is the curiosity of a curious city they often do.

The New York subway has never had a great disaster. There have been panics and such but not a wreck of consequence. The mechanical system is almost foolproof. A train cannot zip past a station without stopping, so highly perfected is the lock contrivances.

The motorman's hand must be on the operating switch or the train will not budge. This offers safety in case the motorman should fall dead or faint at his post. In this emergency the train stops and the train behind receives a warning signal. Only once has a motorman fallen lifeless at the throttle.

Subway workers are paid for a seven day week, from $29 for guards to $48 for motormen and in consideration of risks they take it seems small pay. They have gone on strike several times, but the wage gain has been slight.

There are in the subway 2,662 curves, stop signals and switch crossings. The motormen must sit in tiny cages gazing only into the damp blackness as the train burrows way underground. It is a job offering monotonous tedium in gloomiest surroundings.

Subway workers after a few months service acquire what is known as "subway fat." Almost invariably they add weight and the standard of health is high which is a blow to those who predicted dire physical results for workers when subways were opened.

* * *

Following the bright idea of sailors on shore leave who row in Central park lakes it is said many subway workers employ idle hours riding under the island and swapping gossip with fellow subway guards.

* * *

If there has ever been a subway guard who pronounced names of stations they were approaching in an understandable manner I have not heard him. Every guard has an unintelligible mumble which sounds something like "Blah, goompty-oof." Or worse.

Many New York husbands and wives have what are known as fifty-fifty arrangements. Each runs with a different set of friends and no questions are asked. The husband may dine out with a fascinating blonde and meet his wife dining with a marceled boy friend and be good-natured about it. They merely live under the same roof in a state of marital neutrality. Of course, this plan exists only among couples of mean. A divorce lawyer explains it as the last desperate effort to prop up a collapsing marriage headed for the divorce court. It is largely true when husbands and wives feel that way toward each other, they have lost all interest. They are through and merely delay the annoyance of telling the judge.

The Star told of the birth of a son, Wednesday evening, to Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Gabler, of south Greenwood street.

Miss Vera Barnhart, of Prospect, and Mr. William Slack, of Marion, the Star reported, were married the night before by Rev. A. Snider, of Galion.

President Roosevelt shot a big bear down in Louisiana.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barnthouse, so the Star said, celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary, the night before at Morral.

Dinner Stories.

A tourist passing through a country village found that his watch was stopped. Seeing a little boy standing outside of the village shop he went up to him and said:

"Can you tell me the time, sonny?"

"Just 12 o'clock," was the reply.

"Only 12," said the tourist. "I thought it was more than that."

"It's never more in these parts, sir," answered the boy. "It goes up to 12 o'clock and then commences again at 1."

Some wives find their husbands deceitful and stingy; while others find them exacting and impatient. Then there are wives who find their husbands unfaithful and improvident, and there are still other wives who find their husbands suspicious. Lots of wives find their husbands boastful, many find their husbands unmanageable, and then there are other wives who can't find their husbands at all.

"The woman who slumps on certain days of every month has not kept abreast of the times. Midol has made painful periods a thing of the past for thousands of women!

Midol is not a narcotic. It does not interfere with the natural and necessary process of menstruation. But it stops the pain. It eases the organs affected in five to seven minutes. Furthermore, the woman who anticipates her time and takes a tiny tablet of Midol beforehand will experience no pain at all.

Try to realize Midol does really end all suffering, even discomfort, no matter how hard a time you've always had. At drug stores, in trim aluminum case for fifty cents.—Adv.

WOMEN CAN NOW DO MORE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Keeps Them Well

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught school, some did housework, some found work to do at home and a few took up nursing.

Today there are very few occupations not open to women. Today they work in great factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives, and legislators. But all too often a woman wins her economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unionall factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 500 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it.

Sally's Shoulders

by BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN," "MONEY LOVE," "THE PEEVEYWOOD GIRLS," etc.

Read This First

SALLY JEROME, pretty and clever, is the prop and mainstay of the family in the absence of her father, who has not lived with her mother for nine years. The family consists of MRS. JEROME, the twins, BEAU and MILLIE, and Sally, herself. Mrs. Jerome enjoys poor health, so Sally does the housework mornings and office work for grouchy MR. PEEVEY, down town, afternoons.

In the flat below the Jeromes' flat lives TED SLOAN, an automobile salesman, who wants Sally to marry him and keep on working. But the only man who interests her is JOHN NYE, whose real estate office is just across the hall from Mr. Peevey's. Nye hires Millie as his secretary and becomes blindly infatuated, buying her expensive gifts and lending her his his car, etc. But Millie confesses to Sally that, although she intends to try to marry Nye because of his money, she is much more in love with a man named DAVIDSON. She had known Davidson when she worked at Bursall's, where he was a bond salesman.

Beau and Millie give very little towards the upkeep of the flat. They even borrow from Mrs. Jerome when one of her husband's checks arrive. Sally has a hard time keeping house, and occasionally has to borrow from her aunt, EMILY JEROME, who is giving up school teaching to turn her old home into a wayside inn. Aunt Emily wants Sally to go into business with her, but Sally is afraid to give up her $21 a week with Mr. Peevey to take a chance elsewhere.

Beau gets $110 from Ted Sloan by means of two bad checks. When Ted threatens to turn him over to the police, Sally borrows the money to pay him from Mr. Peevey. But when she gives it to Beau, he uses it to elope with his fiancee, MABEL WILMOT. Sally starts paying off both Ted and Mr. Peevey at the rate of $2 a week. Beau and Mabel borrow from her, too, and she is at her wits' end when Millie is taken sick and has to have a doctor, which means more money. Mrs. Jerome has turned over her last check to Beau and Millie for a wedding present, and Sally is almost without a dollar. One afternoon while Millie is sick at home, and John Nye is out of town, Sally sees Davidson at Nye's office door asking for Millie. She goes out to speak to him.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XXIX

"DID you want to see me Millie?" asked Sally, walking straight up to Davidson and shaking hands with him in her brisk, business-like way.

"Yes—but I'd rather see you," Davidson answered, holding her hand in both of his. "Do you work up here?" His cold, gray eyes lifted and looked beyond her into Mr. Peevey's funny, old-fashioned office, with its electric stove, its roll-top desk and red calico chair cushions.

Sally nodded and drew her hand away from his. Her face flushed, but her eyes met his straight and full. Sally's eyes had no flirtatious, sidelong glances. Set bewitchingly wide apart and fringed with long, silky lashes, they had the frankness of a child's eyes.

"Millie's at home today. She was awfully sick last night," she said. "And Mr. Nye's out of town. I'll tell Millie you were here. Good-bye."

She was turning to go back to Mr. Peevey's office when a sudden thought struck her and she came back to where Davidson stood watching her.

"Millie said something to me last night about your coming to work for Mr. Nye," she said. "Do you mind my asking if that was what you came for?"

It was a daring question, but Davidson answered it with a jerk of his head.

"The bond business hasn't been so good lately, and I thought I'd try selling lots instead," he said shortly, with a smile that did not light up his gray eyes. "How would you like to meet me after work today, and we'll go and buy Millie some roses?"

Sally shook her head at him and laughed. "I imagine you can buy roses without any of my help," she smiled. "You look as if you'd bought plenty of them in your time. Besides, I've got to hurry home today."

That night when she got home Millie was sitting up in bed eating chocolate ice cream in a big bowl. Beside her sat Mrs. Jerome with another bowl of it in her lap.

"Ice cream!" exclaimed Sally, coming to a stop in the doorway. "Did the doctor say Millie could have ice cream?" It seemed to her that chocolate ice cream was a pretty heavy diet for an invalid.

Mrs. Jerome looked guilty. "Well, she said she could have liquid food," she said. "And ice cream is liquid—after it's melted. We were so hot and we just telephoned the drug store man to send a quart of it up to us. Millie says she's just burning up."

Sally saw at a glance that Millie was feverish. Her eyes had a hard glitter and her cheeks were flushed to the temples.

"You give me that stuff!" cried Sally, and leaning across the bed she took the bowl out of her sister's small, clutching hands. "Mother, you know that she shouldn't have a thing but clear soup or milk. . . . That's what the doctor meant by a liquid diet."

"Well, there wasn't any milk in the house, or any soup either," replied her mother with a pathetic quiver in her voice. "I suppose I could have gone traipsing out in the heat for some—but the drug store is so nice about delivering things, and I thought the ice cream wouldn't hurt Millie a bit—"

The sound of her voice followed Sally out to the kitchen, where she threw the remaining ice cream into the sink and turned a stream of hot water upon it.

She opened the ice box to see what there was for supper. A bowl of cold mashed potatoes stood there. An uncooked sirloin steak was wrapped in waxed paper on the top shelf, and there was a big dish of salad greens beside it.

"We'll have potato balls and salad and tea for supper—that will be plenty for Mother and me," Sally said to herself. "Millie doesn't need anything tonight. And in the morning I'll use half of that steak to make her a bowl of soup. The other half can be broiled for tomorrow night's supper."

She knew that it was going to take a good deal of careful planning and figuring to get through the week with the tiny sum of money that lay folded tight in the bottom of her purse. . . . Seven dollars. Not quite seven dollars.

She went back to Millie's room, where Mrs. Jerome was finishing her ice cream in an aggrieved silence. She sniffed and looked out of the window when Sally came and stood beside Millie's bed.

"Dear," said Sally, quietly, "I hate to talk to you about money just now—but I had to give the doctor five dollars last night, and I wonder if you have any money left from your salary."

She shot a look of fury at her mother. "Why don't you go and call Beau and Mabel up and ask them to give you back part of that two hundred?" she drawled, her blue eyes smouldering. "Then you could pay the doctor without calling on me for the little bit of money I've got—"

"I've tried to get them all day," quavered Mrs. Jerome, half rising from her chair. "But Beau wasn't at the bank and Mabel wasn't at Bursall's. I don't know where they can be."

"Probably out spending the money!" Millie came back at her indignantly. "Why don't you try to get them at their boarding house?"

As she spoke there came a loud drumming on the front door.

The three women looked at one another. . . . That was Beau's knock!

"Talk about the angels and they're sure to appear," quoted Mrs. Jerome. "There are Beau and Mabel now." She turned to go to let them in.

"You get some of that money from them! Do you hear?" Millie shouted as she vanished.

"Hush!" Sally said pleadingly. "Don't get yourself excited, dear. Do lie down and take things easy. You look so hot, Millie. Don't you think I ought to have the doctor again?"

But Millie shook her head and slumped down in bed. "Just let me sleep. I'm all right," she said crossly, and Sally left her.

In the living room Beau and Mabel and Mrs. Jerome were all crowded at the front window looking down into the street.

Mabel turned at the sound of Sally's step on the carpet and seized her by her arms, dancing her around the room. "We've bought a car!" she squealed. "A car!—A roadster! Take a look—see!—Beau and Mabel have got a car of their own at last!"

She seemed to be beside herself with joy as she pranced around the cozy little room, waving her arms and kicking out with her slim silk-clad legs.

Mrs. Jerome looked at her with great disfavor. "I don't see what you're yelling about!" she said grimly. "It strikes me as a great piece of tom-foolishness! To buy a car when you don't own a single stick of furniture, and haven't a nickel laid away in the bank for a rainy day!"

She went out to her own room and banged the door shut behind her.

Sally, herself, could have wept as she looked at the gaudy little second-hand roadster that stood out in the street. Even through the twilight its bright red paint glowed like a bonfire, and its hood was decorated by a shiny brass figure of a bathing girl. It was exactly the kind of car that she would have expected Mabel to pick out.

"Beau," she couldn't help saying, "you might have paid some of your debts first."

She thought of the load of them he had laid on her own shoulders, and that she was doing her level best to pay off within a year.

But if the thought of them weighed down her spirits it did not seem to worry Beau at all. Not a shadow crossed his blond face or settled in his eyes.

"Got anything to eat?" he asked blithely. "We've been riding around all afternoon and we're as empty as can be."

"We've got hollow legs, we're so hungry!" warbled Mabel, following him to the kitchen where they soon made short work of the steak that Sally had been saving for the next day.

"We've rented a flat," Beau said, between great mouthsful of it. "We're going to move in tomorrow. It's furnished.

"It's as cute as a crow's nest," added Mabel. "Everything built in. In-a-door beds, and breakfast nook, and everything! I'm just as batty about it as a bat!"

They were having a fine time with Mrs. Jerome's check. That was plain enough.

The next morning when Sally left the house at 10 minutes after 11, Millie was still asleep.

Sally had looked in once or twice during the morning, and each time Millie had been lying in the same position, her face flushed, her breath coming regularly but quickly.

"She's just fine," Mrs. Jerome had decided. "Sleep's what she needs. She's hardly ever in bed before 1 or 2 o'clock, you know—and it's my guess that she's just worn out."

So Sally had not been worried when she started out into the bluest, brightest, windiest October day that ever was.

The office was empty when she arrived, and the morning mail was scattered on the door by the door where the postman had slipped it.

Sally took off her hat, smoothed back her hair with her fine, sensitive hands, and began to open the envelopes.

The telephone rang shrilly.

"That's Mr. Peevey, to see if I'm here on time," though Sally and she smiled to herself as she lifted the receiver.

But the smile vanished instantly.

For it was her mother's voice at the other end of the wire.

"Sally—Sally—get home here as fast as you can," it gasped. "Millie—get here, Sally!"

Then there was a click and silence.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

Yesterday was Sunday, and anyone would of thought it was my fault the way my ant tried to scrub my face off before I went to Sunday School, and now she has got my mother to get me a tooth-brush and I have got to brush my teeth every morning she says. I wish I had the kind a fella can take out to brush like my ant and my grandfather has. When I had got mine cleaned I kinda liked the looks of them and the taste of them.

When me and Jubilee were going to Sunday School I grinned at the bunch all the way, but none of them noticed anything except Feeble, and when I had grinned at her a few times she felt of her hat and the back part of her dress and looked at herself all over, and finely she wanted to know what was the matter with her, and I told her there were so many things the matter with her that I didn't have time to tell her about them, so then she asted Youniss and Hattie what was the matter with them.

Youniss said nothing much only that she had a turnip nose and Maggie said her ears pointed frontwards instead of back, and Hattie said if she could scrape her freckles off she would be almost human, and then she told them they was jealous of her fatal beauty, but when we got to the Sunday School she looked in the rainbarrel to see if she could see what I was grinning at, and the barrel was full, and Banty got hold of her ankles and tipped her up till her face went in it, and when he was going to skin out she reached out and hooked one of her feet in front of his, and then she landed on him like she had went into a nose-dive, and she drug him back to the barrel but she couldn't lift him up to put him in it, so she ran around and squoze in between it and the corner and braced herself and pushed it over on him. He was half way under the barrel and half way under the water and he looked like a mud-puppy when he got out, and then he went home and we went in Sunday School and got scolded. Feeble only looked crosseyed and said nothing.

I had to clean my teeth again this morning. I stuck my toothbrush in my hatband and was going to wear it to school so everyone could see it but my mother drug me back and made me leave it at home. In school the teacher wanted to know what I was grinning at and when I told her "Nothing" she said it looked like that kind of a grin.

Peter's Adventures

The Star's Daily Story for Boys and Girls

BY FLORENCE S. VINCENT

A SAUCY SOMEBODY IN A QUEER POCKET

INSTEAD of answering Peter's questions the creature wrapped its tail around a branch that hung low over its head raised itself high from the log and swung back and forth before Peter's astonished eyes.

"Can't you guess my name now?" it chuckled. The boy shook his head.

"Not a Monkey, surely," answered he. "You do not look a bit like one, and yet I never heard of anything else who could swing from a limb by his tail."

The whiskered stranger had gotten all over being cross. Now it was in high glee over the boy's bewilderment.

"First you thought I was a Cat, now 'tis a Monkey I remind you of. Oh, dear me, what a stupid Two-Legs it is. I haven't had such fun since I was a little Pos— Tch! Tch! Tch! There, I almost gave myself away.

"Say, boy, take a good look at my big pocket and guess again. I reckon you can't think of any animal that has one like it 'cept me!"

"Fifty teeth! No fur on the end of its tail! And now a pocket!" gasped the boy. "What next?"

Just as quickly as the creature had twisted its tail about the branch did it unwind it and now, with a soft thud, dropped to the ground beside the boy, and stood upon its hind legs.

And Peter saw a sight far more curious than any that had gone before. It was something so entirely unexpected that he had to look twice and rub his eyes to make sure he was not seeing things.

Beneath the creature's paws was a deep, wide pocket, and out of this pocket peeped an inquisitive little head—saucy little somebody who, when it caught sight of Peter staring at him, twitched his ears and stuck out an impertinent tongue at the Two-Legged stranger.

Just Among Us Girls

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Disturbed

I SHOT a quick furtive glance at the young man who called himself "George Logan Jackson," when he remarked that perhaps Dicky's delay in returning to the house was caused by his finding the owl whose hooting had so frightened Miss Lincoln. His comment was apparently a careless and facetious one, but I already had made up my mind that the young man was an old acquaintance of Eleanor Lincoln's, although they pretended never to have met before the encounter at the railroad station and I found myself wondering whether he shared my conjecture that the owl's hooting came from human lips and was some sort of menacing signal, understood only too well by the young girl.

I answered my own question in the negative, as I scanned the countenance of the youth which held only amusement at his own conception of his host's struggles with the mythical owl.

Miss Lincoln already had repeated the story she had told to Katherine, Lillian and me, and I made up my mind that either the men were more gullible than we had been, or else were possessed of distinct histrionic power. For there was not the slightest trace of anything approaching skepticism upon any face, and the sympathy they gave her was apparently spontaneous and heartfelt.

Indeed, they were so attentive that I was able to take my own thoughts from her and direct them toward Dicky. I was very sure that when he dashed out of the door he had not done so in chase of an owl, but that he believed the darkness outside to hold a human menace.

What had come to him out there in the darkness? There had been no sound of a struggle, I was sure of that. Otherwise Dicky's mother would have sounded the alarm and the other men would have rushed outside. But I knew, of course, that if my theory were correct and one of the vagabound Transylvanians from the shack behind the farm had given that sinister call, he would have taken to his heels as soon as he saw Dicky dash for the door.

Unfortunately for my peace of mind, I knew also Dicky's persistence. If his mind were running along the same lines as mine he would not stop his pursuit of the man until he reached the shack in the woodland and satisfied himself of the whereabouts of the two men.

I tried to reassure myself with the remembrance of the queer mirth-filled interview between Dicky and one of the vagabounds which Katie had reported to me, and with my husband's reiterated statement that there was no harm in the red-bearded man. But I never had shared his optimism, and I knew that he considered the red-bearded man's companion as a distinctly undesirable citizen. Therefore, it did not take me long to work up a very real panic, which, however, I strenuously concealed from the rest. But, just as I felt that I could no longer stand inaction, I saw Dicky come through the living-room and hall to the veranda.

He had his usual debonair and unruffled air, but after a searching though furtive scrutiny, I discovered that he had changed shoes, hose and trousers. He must have been far afield to get them muddy or grass stained, for Jim keeps the wide lawn close shorn.

"Did you get the owl?" The question was a chorus, and Dicky laughed at their eagerness as he answered:

"No, but I frightened him so much that I do not think he will light on our trees for a week at least."

Was it fancy, or was he covertly watching Eleanor Lincoln as he spoke?

ACID STOMACH RUINS APPETITE

Thin, pale people—the despondent sort who never have an appetite, and complain of headaches, indigestion, dizziness, biliousness, usually have too much acid in their stomach. And unless they displace it, any food they eat turns into sour bile and foul gases, which poison their system.

Pape's Diapepsin dissolves that poisonous acids, sweetens the stomach and digests your meals. Many thousands of people have brought back the appetite of their youth and gained weight simply by chewing one of the pleasant tablets of Pape's Diapepsin after meals.

It does what it promises. That's the reason 5 million packages are used a year—ask your nearest druggist for it.—Adv.

COOKING SCHOOL ECHOES

All recipes on this page cooked in five minutes or less

I MADE all the foods on this page from left-overs of meats and vegetables, deep fried in Crisco—the way the French chef does. Served with a well-seasoned sauce, these dishes will lend a French touch to your meals and at the same time help reduce your household expenses.

Put the Crisco into your cold kettle or saucepan and heat it slowly. There will be no smoke or unpleasant odor if your Crisco is heated right, as explained in each recipe. Don't wait for Crisco to smoke.

You can use the same Crisco for everything you fry—fish, meats, vegetables, even cauliflower and onions—and not one will ever taste of the other. Simply strain the Crisco back into the can after using and once in a while clear it by frying in it a few slices of raw potato.

I do not know how I could keep house without all the good things to eat Crisco gives me. Cakes that you simply cannot tell from those made with butter; the tenderest, flakiest pie crusts; fluffy, golden biscuits.

An Astonishing Blindfold Test

See if this doesn't give you the greatest surprise of your whole cooking experience!

Put a little Crisco on the tip of one spoon. On the tip of another place a little of the fat you are now using; have someone blindfold you, and give you first one, then the other to taste.

Now did you ever imagine there could be such a striking difference in the taste of cooking fats! Think what an improvement Crisco's own sweetness and freshness will make in your own cakes, pies, biscuits, and fried foods.

To test your cooking fat—
taste it.
Crisco's sweet flavor will astonish you.

Meat Fritters

Bits of cold left-over meat make a delicious meal for four people and it takes only a few minutes to prepare and cook them.

1 cup chopped cold meat
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup bread flour
1 egg, beaten
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup milk

Beat egg, add milk, then flour and baking powder sifted together. Beat smooth. Add remaining ingredients. Mix well. Drop by spoonfuls into Crisco heated to 360° F., or when a small piece of bread browns in 60 seconds. Fry until brown and thoroughly cooked. Drain on brown paper. Serve with left-over gravy or cream sauce seasoned with a little Worcestershire sauce.

One cup left-over mashed potato may take the place of the flour, baking powder and milk. Simply mix in order given and fry as 375-385° F., or when bread browns in 40 seconds.

½ cup green pepper with lamb and potatoes is delicious but you need to roll this mixture in egg and crumbs, to hold it together.

Fried Vegetable Balls

A new and delicious way to make left-over vegetables go a long way: Cooked spinach, cabbage, parsnips, turnips; carrots plain or with green peas or chopped celery; uncooked green peppers. Serve with cold meat. Or serve with a cream sauce for the main luncheon dish. Prepare them any time, and fry in Crisco two minutes when ready to serve. Or reheat them in the oven a day or two later—they will taste as fresh and delicious as when first made.

2 cups cooked vegetable, chopped
2 tablespoons Crisco
½ cup grated onion
½ cup dry bread crumbs
1 egg yolk
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated cheese
½ teaspoon allspice
More dry crumbs and 1 egg for "breading"

Combine ingredients and let stand 10 minutes to swell crumbs. Shape into balls. (If not stiff enough to handle add more bread crumbs.) Beat egg with ¼ cup water until mixed. Roll balls in crumbs, then in egg and then in crumbs again. Drop in hot deep Crisco (390° F.), or when a piece of bread browns in 20 seconds, until brown. Drain on soft paper and serve.

Croquettes Tropica

1½ cups minced cooked chicken
½ cup packed ground breast nuts
1 egg yolk, beaten
¼ teaspoon curry powder
1 teaspoon flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
Dry bread crumbs and egg (see below)

Mix ingredients in order given. Form into shape. Roll in crumbs, then in egg, then again in crumbs. Arrange in wire basket and fry until brown in deep hot Crisco (395° F.), or when a small piece of bread browns in 40 seconds. Drain on soft paper. Serve with cream sauce.

Use the same above ways to make croquettes from other left-overs (fish, beef, veal, combinations of vegetables) beaten as you like. Use enough sauce to hold together and follow the same method. Always use dry bread crumbs when egg is used.

WHITE SAUCE (for mixing): Blend together 4 tablespoons flour with 2 tablespoons Crisco. Heat in slowly 1 cup warm milk. Stir over fire until thick. Add ½ teaspoon salt.

CREAM SAUCE (for serving): Use 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon Crisco, 1 cup milk. Use plain or season with grated cheese or Worcestershire sauce.

Ham Fritters with Bananas

An unusually delicious and attractive way to serve left-over ham. Bananas are especially nice fried in deep Crisco.

2 cups chopped left-over ham
½ teaspoon pepper
2 eggs
2 tablespoons bread flour
4 tablespoons milk, Chopped celery if desired
Salt if needed

Beat eggs, add milk, seasoning and ham, then flour. Drop by spoonfuls into hot Crisco (395° F.), or when a small piece of bread browns in 20 seconds, until brown. Drain on soft paper. Arrange on center of platter and surround with bananas fried as follows:

FRIED BANANAS—Take 6 small bananas, peel, dip in lemon juice, roll in dry bread crumbs, and fry as above until brown. Garnish with parsley.

CHIROPRACTIC BILL HIT BY LEGISLATOR

Summit County Representative Attacks Measure in Address at Bucyrus

Bucyrus, Oct. 17—Dr. Harry S. Davidson, Summit County representative to the state legislature, launched a local attack on the Chiropractic initiative bill in an address before Crawford County physicians, dentists, nurses, druggists and manufacturers at the Elks Club Friday night. The meeting was held under auspices of the Crawford County Medical Society and was attended by about 60 members of those various professions.

Dr. Davidson asserted that the proposed law, designed to place Ohio Chiropractors under their own licensing board, would put the public at the mercy of every contagious malady that might arise and would create chaos in all state health laws. "Passage of the bill," he said, "will mean that unqualified, uneducated practitioners will be enabled to treat the public for contagious and infectious diseases which they are not now permitted to do. They will be permitted to sign birth and death certificates and to treat accident cases which I submit is a menace because the chiropractor does not believe in bacteriology."

Most Productive Age

PHYSICIAN, MAKING TESTS, FINDS FOLK AT 50 AT CREATIVE AGE

Some of the leaders of American industry who have passed half century mark

CHICAGO, Oct. 17—Disagreeing agreeing with those writers who advocate chloroforming a man after he passes the early part of middle life, Dr. W. A. Newman Dowland, Chicago physician, has compiled statistics to show that man is most productive at 50. He reached this conclusion after studying records of 400 men.

Production peaks for various vocations which he studied are:

Chemist and physicists, 41; dramatists and playwrights, poets and inventors, 44; novelists, 46; explorers and warriors, 47; musical composers and actors, 48; artists and ministers, 50; essayists and reformers, 51; physicians, surgeons and statesmen, 52; philosophers, 54; astronomers, mathematicians, satarists and humorists, 56; historians, 57, and naturalists and jurists, 58.

Man's average production peak may be the half century mark, but a number of leading figures in the United States are powerful at 60 and even 70.

Some Who Are Achieving

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel company, is 65. Chauncey M. Depew, venerable politician, and financier, has passed his ninety-third birthday. Haley Fiske, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, is 75. William H. Taft is chief justice of the United States Supreme Court at 70, although, according to Dr. Dowland, jurists reach the maximum of efficiency at 58. Thomas A. Edison still is an electrical wizard at 80.

John D. Rockefeller takes an active interest in the affairs of the Standard Oil company at 88. Henry Ford is admitted to be the presiding genius of the Ford Motor company at 64, and Patrick Edgar Crowley fills the exacting position of president of the New York Central railroad at 63.

It is men such as these who help to raise the production average of man to 60 years.

RELIEF GIVEN TO 11-YEAR OLD GIRL BY THE KONJOLA

Marion Lady Tells How This New Medicine Benefited Her Daughter.

Konjola is an advanced super-tonic which has brought new life energy to countless Marion people. The action of this medicine upon the organs of the inner system changes half-sick, vigorless men and women to a new feeling of health, regardless of age. A never ending stream of testimonials from Marion residents gives convincing proof of this fact. No other medicine is like Konjola. It is the only remedy today receiving such strong indorsement from people of this section.

Just a few days ago, Mrs. Luciuda Jacobs, well known Marion lady, living at 418 North Grand Ave., this city, made this voluntary statement to the Konjola man at the Stump & Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main St., Marion, where he is personally meeting the local public each day and explaining Konjola:

"Konjola has been a blessing to my 11 year old daughter," said Mrs. Jacobs, "and I feel like it is my duty to indorse such a medicine to others who are needing it.

"My daughter was a weak and frail child since her birth. When she reached school age her health was very poor. She wouldn't care to eat and naturally was very thin. She was dreadfully nervous and often had crying spells over nothing at all. Her case was very puzzling, and on some occasions she has fallen to sleep in school and would have to be awakened when her class was over. No one seemed to know her trouble and we were all worried over her condition. It seemed like nothing in the world could help her and we just about lost hope.

"We decided to give Konjola a trial and now I want to offer you my thanks for this medicine. Our daughter has gained 12 pounds in weight, and is getting near what she ought to weigh at her age. Her nerves are improved and she is so much stronger and is looking so much better. Some of our neighbors say they have never seen such a change in a child before. Her appetite is returned and she is always hungry. She had a more healthy color in her face and never complains of being sick like she used to.

"I think it is wonderful how Konjola has benefited her and I certainly am glad to give such a medicine any indorsement."

The Konjola man is at the Stump and Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Konjola is now being sold by all of the good druggists in every town of this whole section.—Adv.

Harding High Out Passes and Out Punts Ashland to Win 19 to 6

Johnson Crosses Harding's Goal On 50 Yard Run; Ashland Scores in Third

Red and Black Did Not Outclass Opponents; Northerners Had Strong Offensive, but Failed To Muster Scoring Punch When Needed

BY TOM BUCHANAN
Sports Editor, The Star

OUT punting and out passing Ashland, the Red and Black of Harding High School added another victory to the season's list by defeating the Orange and Black 19 to 6 Saturday. Harding's punting was vastly superior to that of the Ashland team and the Red and Black also completed more passes. McAninch averaged better than 40 yards on punts while Johnson got little better than 25.

Ashland's only score and the first one to be checked up against the Red and Black this season came in the third quarter when Johnson broke through Harding's right tackle and ran 50 yards to cross the goal line. Harding scored in the first, third and fourth quarters.

Johnson Stars

In Johnson, Lutz and Paxton Ashland had a trio of fast and hard hitting backs. Johnson, the star of the trio, was good for an average of five yards.

The score was no indication of the comparative strength of the two teams. Harding at times was played off its feet. But as in the Findlay game a week ago the opposition was unable to muster the scoring punch when within scoring distance.

Near the end of the first quarter, Ashland with its back against its own goal line unleashed a powerful line drive that continued throughout the second quarter. After a successful drive out of danger the Black and Orange on nearly every occasion was forced to kick. And that was its weak spot. An exchange of punts was always in Harding's favor. It was this favorable exchange in combination with a 45-yard forward pass that gave Harding its second touchdown. Lowe returned a short kick to the 20 yard line and a pass, McAninch to Houghton, put the ball on the five-yard line. On the second play McAninch went around end for the score.

Harding's end runs were no small part of the victory. McAninch behind the interference of Wright and Houghton got some nice runs via the end route. The Harding wings were steady however and allowed few gains around them.

First Quarter

On the third play of the game McAninch ran across the goal line from Harding's 20 yard line but he was out of bounds on the Ashland 30 yard line. Stafford made a first down through the line and McAninch made three yards. A pass was intercepted by Larue. Unable to gain through the line Ashland punted to the Harding 25 yard line. Again Harding passed. One was good for eight and a lateral incomplete. The Orange and Black line held and Harding lost on downs. Ashland immediately punted and Harding again had the ball on the 25 yard line. McAninch behind perfect interference went around Ashland's left end for a touchdown. Houghton kicked and the score was Harding 7; Ashland 0.

Ashland chose to kick again. McAninch returned 15 yards to Harding's 35 yard line. Ashland's defensive was stiffened and Harding on two plays lost nine yards. McAninch kicked the ball rolling to the Ashland 10 yard line. Ashland then unleashed an offensive that carried it out of danger and continued with more or less intensity until about the middle of the last quarter.

Second Quarter

It was Ashland's ball on its own 20 yard line as McAninch kicked over the goal line as the first quarter ended. Johnson kicked to the middle of the field. Stafford plunged for two off tackle. A pass McAninch to Lowe was good for seven yards. Stafford failed to make it first down on a line buck and it was Ashland's ball again about the 40 yard line. Johnson hit right end for seven and again for one. His blocked punt was recovered giving the Black and Orange a first down. Paxton made two first downs in a row on three plays. Coach Bobyer sent in Ansley for Rieff and Peacock for Smith.

For the rest of the quarter it was back the line and then kick. The half ended with one touchdown for Harding and none for Ashland.

Third Quarter

Ashland kicked to McAninch who returned 20 yards to the Harding 30 yard line. McAninch got a 40 yard punt which was returned by Johnson to the Ashland 40 yard line. The Harding line held for three downs and on the fourth Johnson was thrown for a 12 yard loss on an end run. It was Harding's ball on the 25 yard line. A five yard penalty for Ashland and a 15 yard pass McAninch to Houghton put the ball on the five yard line. McAninch went around end for a touchdown. The extra point failed and the score was Harding, 13; Ashland 0.

Johnson Runs 50 Yards

Harding kicked off and a pass put Ashland in the middle of the field. Johnson plunged through the line, hurdled the secondary defense and was away for a beautiful fifty yard run without interference.

The kick was short, but Ashland's score on the board was boosted to six points.

Ashland kicked to Stafford who returned it to the 25 yard line. McAninch kicked on the third down. An Ashland pass was broken up and Johnson kicked over the goal. It was Harding's ball on the 20 yard line. McAninch kicked and it was Ashland's ball on its 30 yard line. Lowe intercepted Johnson's long pass and Harding and the ball on the Red and Black 25 yard line. McAninch went through center for 30 yards and again for 10. The Ashland line stiffened and Harding lost on downs being too close to punt. Paxton got a beautiful 22 yard run through tackle. Ashland had a long incomplete pass over the goal line as the quarter ended.

Score Again

The ball went into play on Harding's 20 yard line. Harding passed and plunged the ball to the Ashland 40 yard line. McAninch kicked and the Ashland safety man touched the ball as it rolled over the goal line. Houghton fell on it for the third and last touchdown. The pass for the extra point was incomplete.

Coach Bobyer now sent in reserves. The entire squad of 26 men got in for a short time.

With the ball on the 15 yard line Ashland resorted to an aerial game. Two passes were tried with Harding off side on one. Three more were attempted Snyder intercepting the last one and carrying it to the eight yard line. Harding was thrown for a three yard loss on the first down but regained the distance and three more when the game ended. The ball was about five yards from the Ashland goal.

5c DOES IT!

It Buys a Good Cigar Any Place, Any Time, if You Know the Password

"But will it?" you say, thinking of the typical five-center that claims to be worth more. Can't blame you for asking.

At the same time, there is a fine, fragrant cigar on the market today at just five cents. There is a smoke to be bought for a nickel now that used to cost more years ago. That sold big for thirty years. That sells better than ever today.

The name is Havana Ribbon. Will you forget the old-time five-center, the old-time ideas of cigar prices and buy just one Havana Ribbon on quality alone? If you will, you are going to get the smoke surprise of your life. You're going to buy mellowness, mildness, rich ripe tobacco—satisfaction!

Don't be afraid of Havana Ribbon. We can offer quality at the price because we make the cigar by the millions. If you'll only try one, you'll forget the price.

"Dope Bucket" Turns Over on Several Grids Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—Out of the welter of Saturday's football games some highly startling results were achieved, with the toppling of Pennsylvania by Penn State as the one big reversal of a day in which the majority of the college elevens played more less true to form.

Yale's big score in defeating Brown was another surprise and goes to prove that after all there can be a transmutation of metals, for the famous "Iron" Men of a year ago have by their successive reversals at the hands of Penn and Yale proved themselves to be a rather soft grade of lead this season.

Notre Dame Beats Navy

Notre Dame's decisive victory over Navy was not unexpected to close followers of the game although Navy did believe that its green eleven measured every it as strong as the championship 1927 combination. Harvard found Holy Cross as weak as advance forecast had indicated and won by a safe, though narrow margin. Princeton, third member of the now broken "big three," stands out as the only one of the group as yet unbeaten, by virtue of its victory over Washington & Lee, an eleven which caused the Tiger no end of trouble a year ago.

In the middle west, Northwestern turned a sterling performance to wreck Ohio State's conference championship aspirations and to prove incidentally that Dick Hanley had moulded the remnants left him by Glenn Thistlewaite into a machine that is as good as the best in the conference. Michigan came through with a victory over Wisconsin to confound the critics who saw the Wolverines headed straight for ruin because "Hurry Up" Yost had relinquished the reins after more than a quarter of a century. Michigan, with Benny Osterbaan at his best, played the sort of game that Yost's elevens did when playing their strongest and indicated that they were in the race for the championship.

Indiana Ties Gophers

Dr. Clarence Spears had counted on a comparatively easy game for Minnesota against Indiana, but Minnesota was fortunate to escape with a 14-14 tie game.

In the south there was a wholly unexpected uprising which saw Georgia Tech rise as it did in the days of Johnny Heisman and the Golden Tornado to wreck the University of Alabama, which stood just about if not actually at the top of all the country's teams last year. Georgia Tech halted Alabama's famous Crimson Tide in its tracks and showed its own offensive power to be of high order by scoring two touchdowns in one of the most thrilling games the South has seen in years.

Both the Army and Dartmouth had easy games and won by big scores. The Big Green eleven at Hanover trampled the strong Temple University team under a 47 to 7 score, yielding a touchdown to the courageous Philadelphians. The Army routed Davis Elkins, but the Southerners penetrated the Cadets defense for a touchdown.

Chief interest centered in the Navy-Notre Dame game, which promised to be brimful of sparkling football. The Navy played a disappointing brand of football and the vaunted big backfield built around Lloyd was a dismal failure. Lloyd himself never got under way and it was a combination of his procrastination and the inherent weakness of the line that let Notre Dame block a punt which gave the Irish their first and tying touchdown.

Flannigan Stars

But it is only fair to say that Notre Dame was in the way of winning the game even then. The Notre Dame back field with Flanagan and the less advertised Niemic on the firing line, was well nigh irresistible. What was more to the point about the Notre Dame attack was the fact that not once was there the slightest sign of an invasion of the rule about holding positions a full second after a shift was made.

Navy has a long way to go before becoming the polished machine that the 1926 eleven was, but it must be remembered that "Bill" Ingram has six full weeks for this polishing process before the sailors are called on for their big game of the year.

Big Ten Title Race Clears After Games Saturday

BY JIMMY CORCORAN

CHICAGO, Oct. 17—It appears that there is nothing left to do but shake out the bones and let the cubes fall where they may as far as the Big Ten Conference gallop is concerned.

The dopesters, as the smart boys are commonly known, took a few fast belts last Saturday and now they are trying to summon enough courage to find out what it is all about. Of course we refer to football as it is being played here in the Middle West.

Minnesota tied by Indiana, Purdue beaten by Chicago, Ohio State socked by Northwestern. Surely we have enough to blat about for the remainder of the week.

At the present time we find four unbeaten conference teams. They are Chicago, Northwestern, Michigan and Minnesota. We understand that the almighty Gophers with the great Joesting did very well by scraping through to a tie with the supposedly weak Hoosiers.

There are few fans in the Middle West who didn't expect Minnesota to smash through Indiana by at least four touchdowns. Yet Pat Page's laddibucks held the prospective conference champs to a tie. It seems that this is the way the wars go in 1927.

Ohio State was a distinct contender. Yet Dick Hanley's purple outfit bounced over the great Scarlet and Grey team for a 19 to 13 win.

Purdue was supposed to be at least two touchdowns better than Chicago. And despite all of this Father Stagg's youngsters beat the Boilermakers 7 to 6. And the great Ralph Welch was on the job for the whole pastime with the exception of a few minutes.

Dick Hanley's Northwestern team smashed through Ohio State because it had much the better ball team in any way you want to look at it. Tiny Lewis who will be up there when the all star pickers are loose again, tore the Ohio line to small pieces.

Michigan came along just about as expected. Yost has a few warriors from last year's club and it appears that they are about ready to do big things for the Wolverine. You can paste this item down right now. Michigan has a good ball team.

Iowa beat through Wabash 38 to 0. This was expected. The Hawkeyes have a smart club this year and Coach Ingwersen expects them to get some place.

Notre Dame, we are told, shifted through the Navy 19 to 6 and even at that the great King Knute didn't have a chance to shoot in some of his second stringers. You can bet that Southern California will have a strong club to beat the next month.

Smith holds down the left guard post. He is aggressive and smart and mixes in all the plays. He is light for a lineman, weighing only 164 pounds.

Notre Dame played 10 games last year and won nine, losing the final to Carnegie Tech in the season's biggest upset.

Lefty Good Checks Up 12 Strikeouts; Both Teams Garner Nine Hits in Game

All-Stars Loaded Up with Professional Players from Many Minor Leagues; Only Small Crowd Turns Out as Day Is Chilly

With each team garnering nine hits and Good checking up 12 strikeouts the Eagles won 6 to 4 from the Tiffin All-Stars in a cold game at Lincoln Park yesterday.

The All-Stars were loaded for bear but failed to explode. Lefty Ford of Milwaukee American Association was in the pitcher's box. Crist, formerly of the Birmingham club, worked behind the bat. The right fielder was Thomas of the Virginia League. Rex Donaldson, formerly of Carey, who has been playing this summer with Scranton in the Pennsylvania-New York League, was at short. The International League was represented by Stover if Newark, who worked in center field.

It was a cold day for baseball. Too cold in fact for the fans, for only a small handful turned out.

Slick Cross who has been playing with the Eagles for the last two Sundays failed to appear.

Industrial and Railroad Stocks Display Reactionary Tone

NO INTEREST AMONG BUYERS

Business Reports Hardly Conducive to Bullish Movement of Prices

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks, irregular; industrial stocks, irregular; domestic bonds, steady; foreign bonds, steady; call money 4½ per cent; grain steady; copper steady; oil weak; cotton reactionary; rubber steady; sugar reactionary; pig iron steady; foreign exchange, irregular.

New York, Oct. 17—The return of all money to 4 per cent today failed to stimulate speculative buying of either the industrial or the railroad stocks, and after a brief rally from the forenoon decline in the market leaders, took again displayed a reacationary tone.

Business and trade reports and developments of the day were hardly conducive to a bullish movement in stock prices. Most of the business reviews noted the failure of the important industries to show a positive turn for the better in the expected seasonal expansion, though this is by no means a universal complaint. The expansion in electrical goods sales, for example, has already reached very large proportions, with the prospect of further expansion in the closing months of the year.

Loan Rate Drops

With the completion of the October dividend and interest disbursements, aggregating about $300,000,000, money returned in good volume to the banks and the call loan rate was marked down from 4 1-4 to 4 per cent. But the effect of the fractionally lower call loan rate was not magical as it has been on recent occasions, when uproarious forward price movements followed the marking down of the rate to 4 and 3 1-2 per cent.

Professionals and outside traders brought a good volume of selling orders to the market today, the former being almost wholly arranged on the short side of the market. Heavy selling of the sugar stocks resulted in a new 5-point loss in American sugar refining common and Cuban sugar companies reflected the unsettlement in the market for raw and refined sugars.

MARRIES SECRETARY

For the third time in the history of the wealthy Candler family of Atlanta, Ga., one of its members has married his secretary. Miss Florence Stephenson, above, of Lithonia, Ga., is the bride of Asa G. Candler, Jr., below, eldest son of the founder of the family fortunes. The couple have started on a tour around the world.

FACING CHARGE OF HUNTING VIOLATION

George Ulsh, Chicago-av, To Be Arraigned Before Judge Martin

Charged with shooting one quail, one rabbit and one pheasant, George Ulsh, 34, 190 Chicago-av, will be arraigned before Judge Martin in municipal court at 4:30 this afternoon on a charge of hunting out of season.

Ulsh was arrested southeast of this city in Claridon Township at 4:30 Saturday afternoon by O. H. Neimeyer, game warden, after, according to the game warden he had shot a quail, a rabbit and a pheasant. He was taken to police headquarters but was later released on his own recognizance for his appearance in court at 4:30 this afternoon.

A picture made from minute pieces of postage stamps by a London housemaid has been presented to Queen Mary. The picture represents a bouquet of flowers and ferns, topped by a blue butterfly and was recently on show at an art exhibition.

The career of Mme. Suzuki, the Japanese woman who was rated the richest in the world until financial difficulties recently overtook her, is all the more exceptional when it is understood that in Japan women are not supposed to take part in serious business affairs.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT DELIVERS SERMON

Dr. John L. Hillman Again Occupies Pulpit of Epworth M. E. Church

Dr. John L. Hillman, president of Simpson College, Indianola, Ia., who was pastor of Epworth M. E. Church for four years, 35 years ago, preached a most inspiring sermon on the theme, "Building Bridges" at a well-attended service there Sunday morning. Dr. Hillman will be remembered as the pastor, who, during a revival at the church at the time of his patorate here, received 300 new members into the church on one Sunday morning.

Other out-of-town pastors speaking here were Rev. John A. Carriker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Weirton, W. Va., who will take up the pastorate of the Forest Lawn church in the near future, and who had charge of the services there yesterday, and Rev. J. T. Marshman of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, whose talk in the morning at First Presbyterian Church was on the subject, "A Victorious Life."

HENRY HOFFMAN IS HURT IN ACCIDENT

Sustains Broken Left Leg Above Knee When Hit by Motorcycle

Henry Hoffman, 620 E. Mark-st, 60, sustained a broken left leg above the knee and cuts and bruises when he was struck by a motorcycle driven by Robert Bowman, N. State-st, at the intersection of Patterson and George-sts, about 8 o'clock Saturday night. He was picked up by Mr. Bowman and occupants of a machine following the motorcycle and removed to the F. C. Smith Clinic, E. Church-st. The accident happened as Mr. Hoffman attempted to cross the street and failed to see the motorcycle on account of the lights of the automobile which was following.

At a Friends church near Noblesville, Ind., a woman pastor recently preached the sermon and conducted the service at the funeral of her husband.

The Madrid women's club, which recently opened the first clubhouse for women in Spain, has for its president Maria de Matzu a former professor of Spanish in Columbia University, New York City.

FARMERS SUSTAIN $210 SHEEP LOSS

Three Claims Included in Weekly Report of County Dog Warden

Three Marion County farmers suffered losses totalling $210.60 from sheep killed and injured by dogs during the week ending Oct. 15, according to the weekly report of the county dog warden, Dale Rhoads, filed with the board of commissioners Saturday.

Deitsch, Richland township, one lamb and three ewes valued at $22.50 were killed and Albert Fetter, also of Richland township, reported two lambs and 10 ewes killed and three ewes and seven lambs maimed, his loss being figured at $172.70.

These claims will be passed upon by the county commissioners at at their first meeting in December, when payment of the county's sheep losses for the entire year will be authorized. According to present estimates, claims for the year will total about $4,000.

LOANS UP TO $500

Dear Sirs:—Last May I started a newly store and bought merchandise with the $200 you loaned me. I was never in business for myself before, but I thought such a store located in my neighborhood would be worth while to anyone willing to work—and I was right.

I recently had an offer of $3000 for my store that only cost me $300 to start. But I wouldn't sell for twice that amount for my business is going along fine.

Your loan of $200 was a great help to me and I want to thank you as best I can until a day when I can do more for you. Yours truly—

Many good news letters from City Loan customers are in the mail these days.

Reception Planned For Navy Band Members Here Tuesday

OFFICIALS TO WELCOME BODY

Organization To Appear at Chautauqua Pavilion Under Auspices of Grotto

Local city and county officials and other prominent citizens will join in a special program of reception planned in honor of the U. S. Navy Band, which will appear here in two concerts, Tuesday, according to final plans outlined today by Kadgar Grotto, the Masonic organization which is sponsoring the event.

Following formal reception of the band when it arrives Tuesday morning, there will be a street parade starting at the Masonic Temple at 12 o'clock and the navy musicians will be escorted to Marion Cemetery where they will visit the temporary tomb of President Harding and wife.

Although no special ceremony is planned at the tomb, this feature of the band's visit to Marion is expected to be unusually impressive. The navy band was a great favorite with Mr. and Mrs. Harding and accompanied them on part of the trip to Alaska which culminated in the president's death.

Flag Displays

Display of flags throughout the city, particularly in the up-town business section, is excepted to be general, this having been requested by Kadgar Grotto officer sin planning for the band's stay in Marion.

The parade will be headed by Kadgar Grotto band, followed by the Harding High School band. Members of the navy musical organization will ride in automobiles to be provided by the Marion Buick Co., the Hane-Nash Co., the Hildebrandt Auto Sales Co. and Guy C. Stoltz.

The line of march, starting at the Masonic Temple, will be east on Church-st to Vine-st, north on Vine to Center-st, west on Center to Main-st and south on Main to Marion Cemeteries.

From the cemetery, the band members will be escorted back to their hotel to await the afternoon concert set for 2 o'clock.

Come From Bucyrus

The visitors will arrive at 10:17 Tuesday morning on the Pennsylvania railway from Bucyrus, where they were scheduled for a concert today. A committee of officials and citizens, including Mayor Hazen, Lieut. Sherfey of the Harding tomb guard and James A. Knapp, secretary of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M., will meet the train and escort the band members to one of the local hotels.

Advance sale of tickets indicates that attendance at both concerts Tuesday will come near establishing a record for events of this kind locally. Recognized as one of the world's greatest musical organizations, the U. S. Navy band is expected to be heard here by hundreds of persons from other communities in this section of the state. Marion is one of the few places of its size included in the tour now being made by the band.

Special arrangements have been made for entertainment of school children at the afternoon concert. They will be admitted for 25 cents, which is half of the price for adults at the afternoon matinee. Prices at the evening concert, starting at 8 o'clock, will be adults $1 and children 50 cents.

Will Be Guests

Children from the county home will be guests of Kadgar Grotto in the afternoon. The grotto will provide automobiles to convey the youngsters to and from the concert.

In announcing final plans for the concerts today, officers of Kadgar Grotto said that arrangements have been made to assure the comfort of those attending both the afternoon and night programs. These arrangements include heating facilities as well as adequate seating accommodations for all.

HEAR LENGEL CASE

Error Proceeding Argued Before Youngstown District Court

Canton, Oct. 17—Error proceedings in the case of Saranus A. Lengel, former Canton police chief, now serving a life term in the Ohio Penitentiary for complicity in the Don Mellett murder, were to be argued before the court of appeals from the Youngstown district this afternoon.

The Stark County Appellate Court has declined to hear the murder case and arranged to bring the visiting court here. Lengel's case will be presented to the higher court chiefly on two grounds: that one of the jurors expressed an opinion before the trial, and that Judge Frank M. Clevenger erred when he charged the jury that Lengel was guilty with his co-conspirators for the acts of any of them, even though the purpose of the conspiracy was changed without his knowledge.

HAIL CHANNEL HOAX AS MISTIMED JOKE

Future Swimmers Will Have To Labor Under Unsavory Atmosphere

London, Oct. 17—The impression was gaining ground here today that the channel swimming hoax admitted by Dr. Dorothy Logan, who received a prize, later returned, for supposedly breaking Gertrude Ederle's record, was nothing more than a "poor, mistimed joke."

It was believed her method would do nothing more than provoke further anti-feminist attacks.

While agreeing that some sort of channel swimming supervision was needed, London newspapers believe the fact should have been brought to the attention of the world by some other means than those adopted by Dr. Logan.

"Henceforth," says the Chronicle, "channel swimmers will have to contend against the unsavory atmosphere created by Dr. Logan. It is at their expense that this or joke has been perpetrated."

DIES FROM BLAST

Cleveland Man Succumbs After Lighting Match In Room.

Cleveland, Oct. 17 — Walter Van Horn, 32, of Bloomington, Ill., is dead today, the result of a gas explosion and fire in his room on the second floor of the Frankford Hotel here last night.

The victim is believed to have entered the room after it had been filled with gas from a leaky pipe, and lighted a match. An instantaneous explosion and fire resulted. His escape through the door cut off, Van Horn ran to a window, overlooking an alley, and screamed for help.

Downtown fire companies rushed to the scene and a life net was stretched under the window. A large crowd had assembled by this time to watch the attempted rescue.

His clothing blazing, Van Horn jumped into the net, but was already fatally injured by breathing the flames and smoke. He died a short time after reaching a hospital. Damage to the hotel was estimated at about $6,000.

In a letter sent to all old stockholders of the Lincoln Motor last week, the Lelands ask for power of attorney and agreement to start suit.

It is estimated the suit, if started, will involve about $4,000,000.

SHERIFF SEIZES 40 GALLONS OF LIQUOR

Tony Vitale, 55, Arrested at Home on Cottage-st After Raid

Tony Vitale, 55, was placed under arrest at his home on Cottage-st about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning when Sheriff James A. Deal and deputies went to his home and confiscated 40 gallons of bootleg liquor which they report having found in an upstairs room of the dwelling.

Vitale had not been selling the liquor, he asserted, but had been consuming it rather freely. According to reports of the officers, he was intoxicated when placed under arrest. He said that the beverage, put up in eight five-gallon cans, had been stored at his home by an acquaintance.

Vitale was placed in the county jail to await hearing in municipal court on a possession charge which Sheriff Deal said would be filed this afternoon.

WELL-LIGHTED HOMES
A well-lighted home is an attractive home. The building may not be the latest type of architecture; it may be an old-fashioned home of other days, but if it is well-lighted and the premises are clean and there are flowers and a nice lawn, it takes its place with the most modern of mansions.
